VIET TALKS ENDING

RESIGNING CELEBREZZE . . . watches Johnson, Gardner shake.

Johnson Names Republican Gardner Welfare Secretary

Washington (AP)— President Johnson Tuesday named John W. Gardner, a Republican he called "an explorer in search of excellence," to succeed resigning Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

He nominated Celebrezze for a federal judgeship.

Announcing his fourth cabinet appointment in the sunny White House rose garden, Johnson chose words that could have accompanied one of the 12 honorary degrees Gardner holds.

"He is regarded by his peers as one of the most knowledgeable men in the field of U.S. education," the Presient said ". . . he has been all his adult life an explorer in search of excellence . . ."

Gardner, 52, has served for 10 years as president of the Carnegie Corp., a foundation which administers philanthropies set up by the late Andrew Carnegie.

As chairman of a presidential task force, he helped draft Johnson's proposals to Congress in the field of education. Taking note of that service, Johnson said Gardner "helped plant the seed-bed of the educational harvest produced by the 89th Congress."

Johnson named Celebrezze to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which is based in Cincinnati. After three years at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the 54-year-old Celebrezze thus will return to the state where he began his political career. He will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Lester L. Cecil.

'American Legend'

The judgeship pays $33,000 a year, the cabinet post $35,000.

When President John F. Kennedy named him to the cabinet, Celebrezze, a native of Anzi, Italy, was serving his fifth term as mayor of Cleveland.

"There is something powerful and remarkable in the American legend that directs a young immigrant of Italian birth, who as a baby came to this country with his parents and as a man widens the dimensions of his adopted land," Johnson said. ". . . With tolerance, energy and single-minded purpose, he presided over the greatest thrust for the future American education and health have ever known."

Johnson is not the first Democratic president Gardner has served. He headed a special task force on education created by Kennedy shortly after his election in 1960. And he was editor of a book entitled "To Turn The Tide," a collection of Kennedy's early presidential papers and speeches.

Gardner wrote the chapter on education in the report of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's commission on national goals.

Air Force Jets Knock Out Red Missile Sites

Washington (AP)—Air Force jets streaked in at low level Tuesday and bombed two antiaircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam. Pilots reported one site destroyed and the other damaged.

Three F105 fighter bombers out of an attacking force of 46 planes were shot down by intense antiaircraft gunfire, U.S. spokesmen said.

Two pilots were seen parachuting from their stricken planes, the Defense Department said. Radio Hanoi reported six U.S. planes were shot down and three American pilots were captured.

The Pentagon announcement came three days after an Air Force F4C Phantom jet fighter bomber was downed in a raid near Hanoi.

At the time, the Defense Department said there were indications that the Phantom was struck by a ground-to-air antiaircraft missile. Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester confirmed this Tuesday.

Soviet Help

U.S. officials have presumed that, as in Cuba, Soviet technicians and possibly Soviet servicemen have been installing the sites and probably would man the weapons at first.

The missiles and their related equiment are Russian made.

The raid Tuesday was aimed at two previously undiscovered surface missile sites about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi. Also struck were barracks used by personnel at the sites.

The two new sites, the Pentagon said, used semimobile equipment which could be installed in as little as 24 hours.

They are in addition to five missile sites around Hanoi previously identified and described as under construction.

Sylvester, at a news conference, said these five original sites "are not operational so far as we know." They do not "relate to military targets on the priority list," he said.

Republican critics of the Johnson administration have been calling for strikes to knock out the five original sites which are ranged in a circle about 15 miles from the North Viet Nam capital.

Sylvester said there were no reports of missiles being fired at Tuesday's attacking planes or of any hostile air action.

An Air Force spokesman said that the 46 striking fighter bombers were protected by fighter escorts that probably stayed above the battle in a combat air patrol. They were there to meet any challenge but the Communists evidently chose not to send up their MIG fighters based at fields near Hanoi.

The surface-to-air (SAM) missiles are designed for use against high flying planes. They can reach up to 80,000 feet and have a slant range of some 35 miles.

Salmonella Poisoning Cases Rise

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

The head of the Laboratory for Zoonoses of the National Institute of Public Health in the Netherlands is an active participant in the research of a bacteria which is increasingly being recognized in countries with highly developed hygenic standard

Dr. E. H. Kampelmacher, World Association of Food Hygienists now holding its fourth symposium here, said that the number of cases of food poisoning brought about by bacteria of the Salmonellosis complex is still increasing on a world-wide basis.

Salmonella infections cause acute inflamation of the intestinal tract of man and animals. Foods consumed by humans may become contaminated and are vehicles of infection for man.

Two Explanations

Kampelmacher offered two explanations for the phenomenon of a high incidence of Salmonella infections in countries with well-developed hygienic practices in food processing:

—It is common in these countries for large quantities of food to be prepared centrally, allowing a smal number of contaminated units to contaminate a large number of non-contaminated units.

—The population in these countries believes that foodstuffs examined and controlled by the authorities are so safe from the microbiological point of view that the consumption of raw or insufficiently heated foodstuffs has become general.

Some scientists have hypothesized, Dr. Kampelmacher said, that pesons in tropical countries repeatedly come into contact with Salmonella organisms at an early age and develop an immunity superior to that acquired by population in highly developed hygienic countries.

"Owing to the progressively increasing exchange of foodstuffs between countries and continents, and the need for exporting surplus foodstuffs for human and animal consumption to many underdeveloped countries, it is to be expected that this problem will grow rather than lessen," the veterinarian explained.

Salmonella research at his Zoonoses Laboratory in Utrecht (zoonoses are diseases communicable from animals to man under natural conditions) was the subject of Dr. Kampelmacher's presentation to the fourth symposium Tuesday.

Results Readied For Broadcast

. . . AT NEWS CONFERENCE

Washington (AP) President Johnson stepped up the tempo of major Viet Nam policy talks Tuesday and scheduled a news conference Wednesday at which he will report on the conclusions he has reached.

Johnson's news conference, which will be broadcast nationally by radio and television networks, will be held at 10:30 a.m. CST in the East Room of the White House.

In advance of the meeting with reporters, Johnson set up a final round of policy conferences. Included were his Cabinet, the National Secursity Council, Democratic and Republican congressional leaders and bipartisan delegations from House and Senate committees most directly concerned with developments in Viet Nam — appropriations,armed services and foreign relations.

Talks Near Done

Johnson has been presiding at a steady round of top level meetings to hammer out new policies in the wake of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's special five-day mission to South Viet Nam. These talks, under way since McNamara returned last Wednesday, were near finished Tuesday.

Johnson's Press Secretary, Bill D. Moyers, was asked whether the President would disclose at his news conference the results of the policy sessions.

"The President hopes to discuss with you and, through you, with the people the matters that have been under discussion for the past several days," Moyers said.

Reveal Conclusions

In response to a question, he said Johnson could be expected to reveal any conclusions he has reached as a result of the talks.

There has been considerable speculation that Johnson might call to active duty some National Guard and reserve units and expand draft calls in order to increase the number of American combat forces in South Viet Nam. There has been talk that the number might be boosted from the present level of 73,000 to nearly 200,000 by the end of the year.

Johnson's decision to consult with members of the Senate and House appropriations committees only reinforced the prevailing view that costly new commitments are being planned.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a speech prepared for the governors conference in Minneapolis, Minn., Tuesday night, gave such a clue but revised it in delivery. He said the decision on Viet Nam "could mean the expenditures of great resources—of money, material, and, yes, of human life." He provided no clue as the specific amounts of dollars, arms and men that might be needed.

Humphrey defended U.S. policy in Viet Nam by telling the governors:

"If we falter, if we weaken, we will face the prospect of more Communist aggressors moving against other free nations in Southeast Asia. And their aggressive doctrine of subversion and terror can be exported to other parts of the world—yes, even the Western hemisphere."

Johnson's session with committee leaders is scheduled Wednesday morning. Meetings with the cabint, security council and bipartisan congressional leadership began during the noon hour Tuesday and extended into the evening.

Calls Congressmen

Moyers said Johnson was calling in members of Congress in order to consult with them on the matters he has been discussing with senior advisers

The press secretary said Johnson would have an opening statement on Viet Nam at his news conference, then entertain questions.

Horace Busby, cabinet secretary and Johnson assistant, said that body devoted some 45 minutes to talk of Viet Nam with each member called on for comments, questions or recommendations.

Legislature Endorses Crossing County Lines

. . . NIXES APPORTIONING BY ELECTORS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday refused to propose a constitutional change which would permit legislative reapportionment on the basis of electors, then endorsed a proposal to allow districts to cross county lines.

Lawmakers also voted to rewrite the constitution to provide for mandatory reapportionment after each federal census.

At issue was LB923, proposing to the people a host of constitutional amendments touching on the reapportionment problem.

Three hours of legislative debate produced more senatorial division than consensus, and a motion to kill the bill was pending when the Unicameral adjourned for the day.

Name Removed

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, who proposed LB923, removed his name from the measure while the lawmakers were in the midst of rewriting its major provisions.

Four members of the Government and Military Affairs Committee remain as sponsors.

Adamson had proposed the elector provision, and the committee recommended amendments which would permit reapportionment based either on population or upon electors once Nebraska has statewide voter registration.

The committee proposal was turned down on a 15-21 vote, and the Legislature restored population as the only basis for apportionment.

Restricted Manner

Adamson had proposed that county lines could be ignored in a restricted manner, but the committee proposed a specific prohibition against violating county boundaries in apportionment Again, the committee plan was rejected on a 13-27 vote.

The bill now provides that county lines could be crossed only in a county whose population entitles it to more than one senator, and a county can only be split into two districts except when it is entitled to more than two senators.

The provision for mandatory reapportionment after each decennial census, proposed by Sen. John Knight of Lincoln, was accepted on a 21-20 vote.

Major debate erupted over a proposal to increase the maximum size of the Unicameral from 50 to 65 members, as provided in the bill.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha suggested that it be lifted to 75 senators, but Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth won voice vote approval to amend the Syas proposal to remove any maximum restrictions.

Failed

Then, the Ruhnke proposal failed on a 22-22 tie vote.

Accepted on voice vote was Sen. Edward Danner's amendment removing from the bill permissive provisions allowing at-large senatorial elections in Douglas and Lancaster Counties.

LB923 also proposes amendments to specifically protect four-year staggered legislative terms after any future reapportionment, and to boost the minimum membership of the Unicameral from 30 to 40 members.

Sens. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha and Ramey Whitney of Chappell announced that they will attempt to amend the bill to remove the staggered term provision, and provide that all four-year terms expire at the same time.

Syas said other amendments will be necessary to submit separate questions to the electorate, rather than lump all of the issues into a single constitutional proposal.

'Butchered, Chopped'

Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont filed the kill motion, noting that the measure has been "butchered and chopped around . . . with no more unanimity in thinking than when we started."

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte said the bill "doesn't stand a chance" of receiving the 30 votes on final reading which would be necessary to submit the issue to the voters for their decision.

Rasmussen agreed to leave his motion pending until lawmakers have further opportunity to study the amended bill.

Meanwhile, Whitney filed a request to revive LB924, proposing a reapportionment plan crossing county lines. The bill had been killed in committee.

Only reapportionment plan now before the Legislature is a 47-district proposal honoring county boundaries.

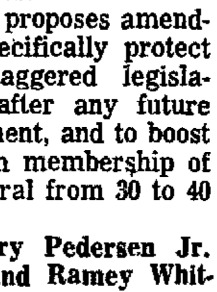
Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance has prepared for legislative consideration an alternative 49-district proposal crossing county lines in six instances.

LB924, in its present form, would divide 12 counties and create 50 districts.

The 47-district plan, contained in LB925, is scheduled for floor debate Wednesday.

Top Youth Corps Job To R. D. Buckner, 34

Robert Dale Buckner, 34, has been appointed by the Lincoln Board of Education to head the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program in the public schools. His salary was set at $9,500.



Buckner

As coordinator, Buckner will supervise students participating in the Economic Opportunity Act EOA program, hiring applicants, assigning work and paying the $1.25 per hour salary. He will work under Dr. Julius Humann, director of guidance, according to Dr. Arzell Ball, vice superintendent.

Buckner comes to Lincoln from Wichita, Kan. He received his M. A. degree from the University of Colorado. He is married and has four children.

Two professional NYC counselors, one at Lincoln High School and another for the other schools, may be added depending on the number of enrollees the program has in September, Ball said

Forty youths are currently working for the school district, and the total employment may range from 80 to 90 for the rest of the summer, Baill said He noted that 200 are expected to be employed during school months, although the district could hire as many as 450.

Ball said the schools can create all the jobs that are needed, but the applicant must meet the EOA requirements: 16 to 21 years of age; family-of-four income not more than $3,120 and a student.

. . . WILL BE SPEEDED TO SENATE, LBJ

Washington (AP) — The House gave final approval Tuesday to the expansion of the Social Security system to provide hospital care and other health services for older Americans. The vote was 307 to 116.

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader told House members after the note: "The people will rise up and say bless you for the work we will complete today."

The measure was sent to the Senate, which was poised for quick action. The bill is of top priority to the Johnson administration and was expected to be speeded to the President's desk for signing.

Both the House and the Senate voted 3 to 1 for the measure earlier. But the Senate made 513 changes in the House bill and a compromise measure was prepared by a conference committee of the two chambers. It was that compromise measure which won House approval Tuesday against token resistance.

The bill, a major breakthrough in American social welfare, would among other things:

1. Assure virtually all Americans 65 or older of hospitalization and nursing home care at low cost.

2. Give them the opportunity of joining a government-supervised insurance program that will help them pay most doctor bills.

3. Increase by seven per cent, retroactive to last Jan. 1, benefits under already existing old age, survivors and disability insurance programs.

Retroactive Benefits

If the bill becomes law this week, the Social Security Administration plans to mail the retroactive benefits along with the regular September pension payments.

A once highly controversial measure, the bill drew the House support of 237 Democrats and 70 Republicans. Voting against it were 48 Democrats and 64 Republicans.

Nebraska Representatives Clair Callan and Glenn Cunningham voted with the majority. Nebraska. Congressman David Martin voted against the bill.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., in a brief speech, called the compulsory hospitalization provision unconstitutional.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., called attention to the bill's progressive increase in Social Security taxes.

The basic health plan established by the bill would provide, for each spell of illness, regular hospital services for up to 90 days. The patient would pay $40 for the first 60 days and $10 a day after that.

On release from the hospital, the patient would be permitted to spend up to 100 days in a skilled nursing home at a cost of $5 a day for each day after 20. Once back at home, he could get up to 100 visits from a nurse, therapist or home health aide.

The voluntary insurance plan would provide, on payment of $3 monthly premiums, coverage for 80% of most doctor bills each year after the patient pays the first $50.

Cost of the program in the first year has been placed at just under $6.5 billion.

Welch Says Reds Lead Civil Rights

New York (UPI) — Robert Welch, founder and leader of the John Birch Society, said Tuesday night that international Communists launched and led the civil rights drive.

"We can show you and prove to you that the whole civil rights program today was inaugurated and inspired by communists and has been following Communist purposes," Welch said in a telecast (National Educational Television's "Regional Report: The John Birch Society").

The telecast included a tour of the national headquarters of the Birch Society in Belmont, Mass., including a typical meeting of the society. Newsmen also reported on Birch efforts to recruit policemen of the Santa Ana, Calif., force.

Sink Great Ship

Welch said the sponsors of the civil rights drive were trying "to sink a great ship, the great ship of state . . ."

"Their real purpose is to sink the ship," Welch said.

Welch said the Negro civil rights march on Washington two years ago was "completely phony."

"Goodness knows how much they (the Communists) had to pay to get them there," Welch said.

Welch said 95% of the Negroes wanted "no Negro Soviet Republic" in the South or a "proletarian Soviet America."

"I will say that the Communist influence within our government, within our press, within our communications media, within our educational system are very, very powerful, despite the small percentage."

Edwin Bayley, an editor for the television network, said during the telecast:

"If the Birch Society ever did become a major influence in the United States, we would be in terrible trouble."

"But I can see no reason to doubt that the good sense of the American people will prevail and that Mr. Welch and his followers will slip off to a well-deserved oblivion."

U.S. JETS DOMINATE VIET NAM FIGHTING

Saigon (UPI) — U.S. warplanes hit targets in North and South Viet Nam Tuesday, killing an estimated 187 Viet Cong guerrillas.

The air war dominated the fighting, but U.S. Marine patrols killed at least two Viet Cong near the Da Nang Air Base when a guerrilla force attacked them. There were no reports of Marine casualties. Another 10 guerrillas were killed by government troops.

U.S. Navy, Air Force, and Vietnamese planes flew 232 strikes against Viet Cong targets throughout South Viet Nam, hitting supply and training areas, troop concentrations and encampments. They destroyed or damaged 407 buildings.

Zone D Bridges

In one area they bombed two of South Viet Nam's own bridges to cut off Communist supply lines to Zone D, the Communist stronghold outside Saigon.

In the north, Navy planes attacked the North Vietnamese power plant at Thanh Hoa, 75 miles south of Hanoi, for the second time in less than a week. Twelve aircraft from the carrier U.S.S. Independence dumped 12 tons of bombs on the plant.

Smoke prevented an assessment of the damage.

The Marine encounter with the guerrillas occurred during a routine patrol Tuesday morning on the edges of the big Da Nang base where jets leave on bombing missions.

A patrol from the 2nd Battalion, 9th Marines was in a small village when an undetermined number of guerrillas attacked them. The Marines crawled in armored trucks and fired heavy weapons at the Viet Cong.

At least two Viet Cong were killed, a spokesman said, but no count was made of bodies.

In another action around Da Nang, Vietnamese intelligence authorities announced the presence of an estimated battalion of guerrillas — anywhere from 300 to 800 men — south of the Marine positions.

The Marines were expected to extend their defense lines to cope with this new threat.

New Zealand Mother Knew About Four, But Not Quints

Auckland, New Zealand (AP)—Reviving quickly after giving birth to a boy and four girls Tuesday night, Mrs. D. W. Lawson said: "I expected four, but not five. Oh dear me, no."

Mrs. Lawson, 26, had tea, while the quintuplets, apparently all healthy, were placed in incubators at National Women's Hospital in Auckland.

Mrs. Hilda Menzies, the infants' maternal grandmother, said the quint are descendants of Fletcher Christian, a bounty mutineer, through her husband.

The medical superintendent, Dr. R. A. Warren, said the delivery was without complications. The boy, weighing exactly four pounds, came first. The girls were 3 pounds 3 ounces, 4 pounds 3 ounces, 4 pounds 2 ounces and 3 pound 7½ ounces, he said.

The Lawsons have one other child, a daughter. Lawson runs a fish and chip shop.

The Lawson quintuplets became the fourth known living set of quints. The Dionnes were the first in recent medical history to survive, but one of the girls, Emilie, died in 1955. The five girls were born in Canada May 28, 1934, to R. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne.

The oldest living quintuplets are Argentina's Diligenti quintuplets — two boys and three girls — who celebrated their 22nd birthday July 15. Their father is millionaire industrialist Franco Diligenti.

The two most recent sets of quints were born in September 1963, little more than a week apart, in North and South America.

Tories Shun Tradition, Elect 'Poor Man' Heath

London (AP)—British Conservatives smashed tradition Tuesday and elected Edward Heath, the "poor man's choice," as party leader. A bachelor, Heath, 59, is now in line to become prime minister if and when the Conservatives regain control of the government.

The 298 eligible Tories in the House of Commons did the voting—which in itself was new.

The result elevated a politician who, unlike most of his predecessors in the top spot, never attended elite private schools. Scion of a working family, Heath won recognition with his own hands and brains and had no powerful influences pushing him from behind.

Alger Story

An Alger story in Tory politics, he acquired the leadership in a default of his rivals.

He got 150 votes against Reginald Maudling's 133 and Enoch Powell's 15 on the first ballot.

He fell short of the margin needed for a clearcut victory under new rules laid down by the outgoing leader, former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home. The rules called for a victory margin of 15% over the runner-up.

But that issue was settled by withdrawals. Powell, 53, withdrew first. Then Maudling, 48, dropped out, choosing not to force a second ballot and promising to support Heath fully.

The decision will be certified Wednesday in room 14 of the House of Commons — the Conservative committee room where the voting took place.

It was a two-horse race from the start. When Maudling failed at the first try, he said:

"Mr. Heath has attained an over-all majority on the first ballot. I am very grateful to all the friends who have suported me, but I have no doubt at all that, in the interests of the party, I should not contest another ballot. I hope to have an opportunity of working under Mr. Heath's leadership to defeat the present (Labor) government as soon as possible."

Heath kept his counsel. His first public appearance as leader probably will be in the House Thursday. Meantime, he faced the job of reallocating jobs in the shadow cabinet. The men thus singled out will cope with their opposite numbers in Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor cabinet.

Maudling has been shadow foreign minister. There were reports Heath may ask his predecessor, Douglas-Home, to return to this foreign affairs role, at which he played a prominent and successful part before he became a losing prime minister.

Housing Bill Sent To LBJ

Washington (AP) — House passage Tuesday sent to President Johnson a $7.5-billion housing bill which will launch a new program of rent grants for low-income families, the elderly, the handicapped and disaster victims.

The 251-168 House vote came on the heels of Senate passage Monday. Voting for the bill were 225 Democrats and 26 Republicans with 58 Democrats and 110 Republicans opposed. Republicans objected mainly to the pioneer rent subsidy program.

The bill, a compromise between Senate and House versions passed earlier, follows closely the administration's recommendations. It authorizes several new programs and continues such major existing programs as urban renewal and public housing over the next four years.

Missing is Johnson's request for a package of aids to help in developing new towns in metropolitan areas.

Veteran Korean War Generals Claim Hard-Hitting Action Key To Viet Win

New York (AP)—On the 12th anniversary of the Korean armistice, American generals who learned the nature of the Communist enemy there believe today that hard-hitting action is the way to win in Viet Nam.

Gen. Edward M. Almond favored use of atomic bombs if "needed to protect our troops."

Gens. Mark Clark and John E. Hull saw no need for such a weapon now but Clark said increased participation by some outside Communist power, such as Red China, would call for reevaluation of this.

Asked if they favored bombing Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, and Hai Phong, a major port, all three said yes, some with qualification.

Single Command

Another command veteran in Korea, Gen. Matthew Ridgway, declined to go into detail about the Vietnamese difficulties beyond speaking of a need for a single command for all allied forces.

The generals, all retired and all veterans of both World Wars and Korea, made their comments in response to an Associated Press survey.

They saw both similarities and contrasts between the Korean War and the present conflict with the Communist-backed Viet Cong. And most of them emphasized that they felt tough, driving applications of force were needed to subdue the foe.

"We must commit ourselves, however reluctantly, to whatever it takes to do the job," said Clark, supreme allied commander who signed the Korean armistice July 27, 1953 (July 26, New York Time), which brought a cease-fire 12 hours later.

Bore Blunt

Almond, whose troops bore the brunt of the first red onslaught in Korea, was asked about using atomic bombs in Viet Nam. He replied:

"The atomic bomb is in various categories in size of nuclear yield. Our troops in Germany are, or were, armed with those minimal type, dual purpose weapons; they are to be used as a last resort if needed.

"I have no hesitancy in using any weapon needed to protect our troops in Viet Nam."

Hull, who succeeded Clark as commander of U.N. forces in the Far East, said, "I don't believe it's called for in this situation."

Almond, Hull and Clark endorsed conventional bombing of military objectives in North Viet Nam, no matter if they be located in heavily populated cities. Clark said, however, that he would first warn the civilian population to give them a chance to evacuate.

Assessing the situation, the generals also variously advised the following strategic courses:

—A single armed forces authority, controlling both U.S. troops and those of South Viet Nam.

—Heavy reliance on air power, rather than trying to fight a primarily manpower war in the densely populated orient.

—Commitment of greater forces.

"The great lesson (of the Korean War) is that we must not fight Communists in a manpower war," Clark said. Even if we wanted to, we wouldn't sacrifice our men the way they're willing to sacrifice theirs."

Negroes Will Seek White School Enrollment If Grants Are Given

Selma, Ala (AP)— A civil rights leader predicted Tuesday that Negores will try to enroll in a new private white school in Selma if State funds are used for tuition grants.

A privately operated school is being established by white parents who do not want their children to attend public schools after they are desegregated this fall.

Leaders of the private school foundation say they are hopeful the state will provide grants-in-aid through a bill pending in the legislature. But school president Robert D. Wilkinson Jr. says, "we're going to have a school whether we get the money or not."

Negroes Will Apply

If tuition grants are paid to white pupils, says the Rev. F. D. Reese, a spokesman for the civil rights movement in Selma, Negroes "most surely" will apply for enrollment, too. And, he added, they probably will appeal to federal court if turned down.

Reese, a Negro high school teacher, is president of the Dallas County Voters league.

Alabama has a tuition grant law, but a three-judge federal court last year prohibited its use for pupils attending a private white school at Tuskegee, but declined to rule out grants altogether.

No Mention

The bill now pending in the legislature makes no mention of race or color. It provides that children can qualify for tuition grants if, in the judgement of their parents, it would be detrimental to their "physical or emotional health" or subject them to "hazards to personal safety" if they attended public school.

The existing law provides for grants-in-aid only after public schools have been ordered integrated.

What would happen under the new bill if Negroes sought to attend a private school whose white pupils received state funds?

The court said that tuition grants would be unconstitutional if "designed to further or have the effect of furthering" segregation.

House Gives Final OK To Health Care System

Tories Shun Tradition, Elect 'Poor Man' Heath

London (AP)—British Conservatives smashed tradition Tuesday and elected Edward Heath, the "poor man's choice," as party leader. A bachelor, Heath, 59, is now in line to become prime minister if and when the Conservatives regain control of the government.

The 298 eligible Tories in the House of Commons did the voting—which in itself was new.

The result elevated a politician who, unlike most of his predecessors in the top spot, never attended elite private schools. Scion of a working family, Heath won recognition with his own hands and brains and had no powerful influences pushing him from behind.

Alger Story

An Alger story in Tory politics, he acquired the leadership in a default of his rivals.

He got 150 votes against Reginald Maudling's 133 and Enoch Powell's 15 on the first ballot.

He fell short of the margin needed for a clearcut victory under new rules laid down by the outgoing leader, former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home. The rules called for a victory margin of 15% over the runner-up.

But that issue was settled by withdrawals. Powell, 53, withdrew first. Then Maudling, 48, dropped out, choosing not to force a second ballot and promising to support Heath fully.

The decision will be certified Wednesday in room 14 of the House of Commons — the Conservative committee room where the voting took place.

It was a two-horse race from the start. When Maudling failed at the first try, he said:

"Mr. Heath has attained an over-all majority on the first ballot. I am very grateful to all the friends who have suported me, but I have no doubt at all that, in the interests of the party, I should not contest another ballot. I hope to have an opportunity of working under Mr. Heath's leadership to defeat the present (Labor) government as soon as possible."

Heath kept his counsel. His first public appearance as leader probably will be in the House Thursday. Meantime, he faced the job of reallocating jobs in the shadow cabinet. The men thus singled out will cope with their opposite numbers in Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor cabinet.

Maudling has been shadow foreign minister. There were reports Heath may ask his predecessor, Douglas-Home, to return to this foreign affairs role, at which he played a prominent and successful part before he became a losing prime minister.

Probe Asked Of Law Affecting Indians' Tax

. . . OMAHA, WINNEBAGO TRIBES INVOLVED

Washington (AP) — Chairman James A. Haley, D-Fla., of a House interior subcommittee asked Indian Bureau officials Tuesday to check into reasons Congress under a 1910 law permitted an advalorem tax on allotted lands of Nebraska Indians.

Haley said he understood the Omaha tribe was one of two against whose members it was possible to force payment of taxes on Indian lands under certain conditions.

Graham E. Holmes, assistant Indian commissioner, replied that the members of the Omaha and Winnebago tribes in Nebraska were the only ones he recalled where trust lands of the individual Indians were subject to a state advalorem tax and that "it was done by Congress" in about 1910.

Haley said it was his information that members of the Omaha tribe were paying about $50,000 a year in local taxes on lands held in trust by the federal government. Such lands generally are not subject to taxes by states or communities, he added.

He said the Indians might possibly have a case to recover $2.5 million that he believes might have been illegally collected.

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., said his information was that individual land allotment holders of all tribes in the state, including the Santee Sioux, were subject to the same taxation as the non-Indian land owners for road, education, police protection and other benefits.

He was advised by two Omaha tribal members here Tuesday that they would like to keep it that way, he said, as the state maintains the roads and the Indians could bond themselves to raise funds to operate their schools.

Wilson Wolf and Edward Cline tribal members noted that the tax applies only to lands which have been allotted to individual Indians and not to tribally-owned lands which are tax free.

The discussion about the taxes came at a hearing on measures to provide for distribution among members of the Omaha tribe if $1.4 million awarded by the Indian Claims Commission to the tribe for land taken by the government.

Cline and tribal attorney Abe W. Weissbrodt said it was the general tribal feeling that children of one-fourth or more Omaha Indian blood born after July, 1961, should share in a proposed $270 per capita allotment.

The tribal constitution now provides tribal enrollment of persons of more than one-half Omaha Indian blood. The committee was told the constitution may be changed soon to include quarter blood Omahas.

Plan Autopsy Into Death Of Mrs. Conlon

. . . Rail Passenger

Sterling, Colo. (AP) An autopsy was scheduled for a 77-year-old South Dakota woman, who died after the derailment of a Chicago-to-Denver passenger train.

Mrs. Alma Conlon, of Wagner, S.D., died Monday night of an apparent heart attack. She suffered a fractured spine in the accident and was scheduled to be flown back to South Dakota.

Logan County authorities said the autopsy would be performed to determine whether Mrs. Conlon died as a result of the derailment.

Six persons remained hospitalized. They were among 53 injured when nine cars of the westbound City of Denver, operated by the Union Pacific Railroad, left the tracks early Monday morning.

A railroad spokesman said 303 passengers were on the 18-car train.

Senate OKs Water Bill

Washington (AP)—The Senate Tuesday passed a bill to authorize a long list of flood control, river and harbor projects expected to cost about $2 billion.

Passage by voice vote came after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., lost an effort to slash $845 million from the authorizations by tightening the cost-benefit formula used on the projects. It was beaten on a voice vote and he made no effort for a roll call.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., floor manager of the bulky authorization, accepted several amendments of the committee-approved bill.

McNamara said the bill includes only projects approved by the corps of Army Engineers, the Bureau of the Budget and other responsible federal agencies.

This is the first omnibus authorization for these projects in three years. It now goes to the House. Actual funds to start and complete the projects must be provided later in seperate money bills.

The bill carries $1,524,000 for the Little Nemaha and tributaries in Nebraska to be used for levees and improvements.

McCook Mayor Quits In Squabble Over Declaration

McCook (AP)—Mayor S. M. Karrer resigned Tuesday night in a squabble over signing a declaration that there would not be job discrimination in the use of $300,000 of federal money in building an extension to the McCook airport runway.

Federal regulations require such a declaration but Mayor Karr said he would not sign one, terming it "silly."

At the council meeting Tuesday night, the council passed a resolution that the mayor sign the declaration. Mayor Karrer was not present but he had sent a letter offering his resignation if the resolution passed.

When it passed the letter was read and the mayor's resignation was accepted.

The council will meet Thursday night to select one of its members to succeed Karrer and serve until an election is held next April. Councilmen said whoever is selected will sign the non-discrimination declaration.

Churchill Cavalcade Folds Due To Meager Attendance

Clearwater (AP) — The Nebraska Churchill Foundation Cavalcade, a road show of 23 young entertainers headed by Harold Pawsey, the young Englishman popularly known as "The Duke of Clearwater," has folded for lack of attendance.

The tour began July 16 and was to have continued until Aug. 6, but after 11 days on the road and an average attendance of only 39 persons it was decided to cancel the remaining 10 performances in the statewide tour, George Wrenholt of Clearwater, foundation president, said. Despite the financial troubles of the road show the foundation will continue its efforts.

"The foundation will do everything within its power to keep this failure from being an embarrassment to the state of Nebraska in the eyes of the world," he said.

Pawsey added: "The principles of freedom have never been easy to obtain and keep on an even keel. This might not be a failure but a wise retreat so we may fight again. I'm certain that once Nebraska learns the true aims of the foundation to teach and preserve every element of freedom that this foundation will rise and continue to rise."

The three-fold objectives of the foundation are: to commemorate Sir Winston Churchill; to establish and maintain an international youth exchange program; and to establish a study center at Clearwater.

MVA Urges Rejection Of Bridge Plans

Omaha (AP) — The Mississippi Valley Association urged the Army Engineers Tuesday to reject plans for the construction of two Interstate highway bridges across the Missouri River.

In letters to Col. Harold J. St. Clair, Omaha district engineer, and Col. Miles Wackendorf, Kansas City district engineer, Vice President James R. Smith of the association, contended that permits sought for the two bridges, would provide for lower navigation clearances than the 52 feet vertical clearance and 400 feet horizontal clearance provided in other bridges including an Interstate bridge now under construction at Omaha.

Smith's protest dealt with the so-called Spring Street Bridge which would take Interstate 80 across the Missouri in South Omaha and a similar span at Kansas City.

Tot Claimed After 7 Hours In Station

Police entertained a lost 3-year-old boy Tuesday for almost seven hours at the police station before someone turned up looking for the child.

Late Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Harlow Mahler of 2630 S, who told police she was babysitting for the child, claimed the little boy and explained that a misunderstanding between herself and her 15-year-old daughter had resulted in the boy getting lost.

Mrs. Mahler said the boy's name is Timothy Watts and that his parents, who live at 926½ A, are out of town. She said the mother's name is Pat, but that she didn't know the father's name.

She told police she is taking care of two other Watts' children and that Tuesday her daughter thought Tim was with her and that she thought Tim was with her daughter.

"When we realized that neither one of us had Tim," she said, "I was frantic and we searched and looked all over."

"If it had been my own child," she said, "I would have called the police immediately, but with someone else's child you of course hate to call the police and you try to find him yourself."

The police found Tim wandering around the corner of 19th and O.

Adkins Urges Caution On Changing Boards

Osmond (AP)— University of Nebraska Regent Richard Adkins of Osmond suggested to the Nebraska Legislature Tuesday that caution is more important than speed in revising the state's system of governing the state colleges and the University as proposed in the pending LB258.

This measure would provide for a vote in 1966 on a single 9-member governing body for the state colleges and the University of Nebraska and — if the voters wished — the University of Omaha.

Suggests Meetings

"Instead of rushing LB258 amended into law I would suggest that the legislature direct the State Normal Board and the Board of Regents to meet in a series of joint sessions during the present biennium to review curriculums, facilities, faculty requirements and budgets in an effort to produce positive recommendations to avoid unnecessary expense and duplication of services," Adkins said in a statement.

"Neither the governor, nor the boards of the colleges and the university or the legislature have had adequate opportunity to review how far and how fast we have come or to think through the complexities involved," he added.

Adkins said his pleas for caution and deliberation should not be construed as oppostion to coordination, but said he is not sure LB258 in its present form would improve administration of higher education in the state. "In areas as important as education we should be at least reasonably sure before we act."

Probe Asked Of Law Affecting Indians' Tax

. . . OMAHA, WINNEBAGO TRIBES INVOLVED

Washington (AP) — Chairman James A. Haley, D-Fla., of a House interior subcommittee asked Indian Bureau officials Tuesday to check into reasons Congress under a 1910 law permitted an advalorem tax on allotted lands of Nebraska Indians.

Haley said he understood the Omaha tribe was one of two against whose members it was possible to force payment of taxes on Indian lands under certain conditions.

Graham E. Holmes, assistant Indian commissioner, replied that the members of the Omaha and Winnebago tribes in Nebraska were the only ones he recalled where trust lands of the individual Indians were subject to a state advalorem tax and that "it was done by Congress" in about 1910.

Haley said it was his information that members of the Omaha tribe were paying about $50,000 a year in local taxes on lands held in trust by the federal government. Such lands generally are not subject to taxes by states or communities, he added.

He said the Indians might possibly have a case to recover $2.5 million that he believes might have been illegally collected.

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., said his information was that individual land allotment holders of all tribes in the state, including the Santee Sioux, were subject to the same taxation as the non-Indian land owners for road, education, police protection and other benefits.

He was advised by two Omaha tribal members here Tuesday that they would like to keep it that way, he said, as the state maintains the roads and the Indians could bond themselves to raise funds to operate their schools.

Wilson Wolf and Edward Cline tribal members noted that the tax applies only to lands which have been allotted to individual Indians and not to tribally-owned lands which are tax free.

The discussion about the taxes came at a hearing on measures to provide for distribution among members of the Omaha tribe if $1.4 million awarded by the Indian Claims Commission to the tribe for land taken by the government.

Cline and tribal attorney Abe W. Weissbrodt said it was the general tribal feeling that children of one-fourth or more Omaha Indian blood born after July, 1961, should share in a proposed $270 per capita allotment.

The tribal constitution now provides tribal enrollment of persons of more than one-half Omaha Indian blood. The committee was told the constitution may be changed soon to include quarter blood Omahas.

Washington (AP)—The Senate Tuesday passed a bill to authorize a long list of flood control, river and harbor projects expected to cost about $2 billion.

Passage by voice vote came after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., lost an effort to slash $845 million from the authorizations by tightening the cost-benefit formula used on the projects. It was beaten on a voice vote and he made no effort for a roll call.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., floor manager of the bulky authorization, accepted several amendments of the committee-approved bill.

McNamara said the bill includes only projects approved by the corps of Army Engineers, the Bureau of the Budget and other responsible federal agencies.

This is the first omnibus authorization for these projects in three years. It now goes to the House. Actual funds to start and complete the projects must be provided later in seperate money bills.

The bill carries $1,524,000 for the Little Nemaha and tributaries in Nebraska to be used for levees and improvements.

McCook Mayor Quits In Squabble Over Declaration

McCook (AP)—Mayor S. M. Karrer resigned Tuesday night in a squabble over signing a declaration that there would not be job discrimination in the use of $300,000 of federal money in building an extension to the McCook airport runway.

Federal regulations require such a declaration but Mayor Karr said he would not sign one, terming it "silly."

At the council meeting Tuesday night, the council passed a resolution that the mayor sign the declaration. Mayor Karrer was not present but he had sent a letter offering his resignation if the resolution passed.

When it passed the letter was read and the mayor's resignation was accepted.

The council will meet Thursday night to select one of its members to succeed Karrer and serve until an election is held next April. Councilmen said whoever is selected will sign the non-discrimination declaration.

Churchill Cavalcade Folds Due To Meager Attendance

Clearwater (AP) — The Nebraska Churchill Foundation Cavalcade, a road show of 23 young entertainers headed by Harold Pawsey, the young Englishman popularly known as "The Duke of Clearwater," has folded for lack of attendance.

The tour began July 16 and was to have continued until Aug. 6, but after 11 days on the road and an average attendance of only 39 persons it was decided to cancel the remaining 10 performances in the statewide tour, George Wrenholt of Clearwater, foundation president, said. Despite the financial troubles of the road show the foundation will continue its efforts.

"The foundation will do everything within its power to keep this failure from being an embarrassment to the state of Nebraska in the eyes of the world," he said.

Pawsey added: "The principles of freedom have never been easy to obtain and keep on an even keel. This might not be a failure but a wise retreat so we may fight again. I'm certain that once Nebraska learns the true aims of the foundation to teach and preserve every element of freedom that this foundation will rise and continue to rise."

The three-fold objectives of the foundation are: to commemorate Sir Winston Churchill; to establish and maintain an international youth exchange program; and to establish a study center at Clearwater.

MVA Urges Rejection Of Bridge Plans

Omaha (AP) — The Mississippi Valley Association urged the Army Engineers Tuesday to reject plans for the construction of two Interstate highway bridges across the Missouri River.

In letters to Col. Harold J. St. Clair, Omaha district engineer, and Col. Miles Wackendorf, Kansas City district engineer, Vice President James R. Smith of the association, contended that permits sought for the two bridges, would provide for lower navigation clearances than the 52 feet vertical clearance and 400 feet horizontal clearance provided in other bridges including an Interstate bridge now under construction at Omaha.

Smith's protest dealt with the so-called Spring Street Bridge which would take Interstate 80 across the Missouri in South Omaha and a similar span at Kansas City.

Turin, Italy (AP)—Italy's auto makers produced more cars in the first half of 1965 than in the first half of 1964 but exported fewer. The new production figures showed 634,106 vehicles, or 4.65% more than January-June last year; exports dropped 2.7% or from 182,111 to 177,188.

Tot Claimed After 7 Hours In Station

Police entertained a lost 3-year-old boy Tuesday for almost seven hours at the police station before someone turned up looking for the child.

Late Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Harlow Mahler of 2630 S, who told police she was babysitting for the child, claimed the little boy and explained that a misunderstanding between herself and her 15-year-old daughter had resulted in the boy getting lost.

Mrs. Mahler said the boy's name is Timothy Watts and that his parents, who live at 926½ A, are out of town. She said the mother's name is Pat, but that she didn't know the father's name.

She told police she is taking care of two other Watts' children and that Tuesday her daughter thought Tim was with her and that she thought Tim was with her daughter.

"When we realized that neither one of us had Tim," she said, "I was frantic and we searched and looked all over."

"If it had been my own child," she said, "I would have called the police immediately, but with someone else's child you of course hate to call the police and you try to find him yourself."

The police found Tim wandering around the corner of 19th and O.

Adkins Urges Caution On Changing Boards

Osmond (AP)— University of Nebraska Regent Richard Adkins of Osmond suggested to the Nebraska Legislature Tuesday that caution is more important than speed in revising the state's system of governing the state colleges and the University as proposed in the pending LB258.

This measure would provide for a vote in 1966 on a single 9-member governing body for the state colleges and the University of Nebraska and — if the voters wished — the University of Omaha.

Suggests Meetings

"Instead of rushing LB258 amended into law I would suggest that the legislature direct the State Normal Board and the Board of Regents to meet in a series of joint sessions during the present biennium to review curriculums, facilities, faculty requirements and budgets in an effort to produce positive recommendations to avoid unnecessary expense and duplication of services," Adkins said in a statement.

"Neither the governor, nor the boards of the colleges and the university or the legislature have had adequate opportunity to review how far and how fast we have come or to think through the complexities involved," he added.

Adkins said his pleas for caution and deliberation should not be construed as oppostion to coordination, but said he is not sure LB258 in its present form would improve administration of higher education in the state. "In areas as important as education we should be at least reasonably sure before we act."

Many Municipal Affairs

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

From Congress on down, it looked yesterday like "National Municipal Day." In Congress, action was taken on the new administration housing bill. putting the measure in line for signature by President Johnson as early as Wednesday. Lincoln officials should have noticed in the bill provisions for a lot of things besides housing.

Another Look At Malls

On Thursday of this week there will be another meeting of interested citizens in regard to development of a mall for downtown Lincoln. They are citizens with an interest in general in their community. If they still have an interest in a mall development, they also have the attribute of patience since we have looked at and discussed more mall ideas in the past 10 years than one would think possible of coming up with in a lifetime. But a new incentive will be present Thursday—the housing bill that will make federal funds available for the development of malls.

Also a part of that bill are funds for federal aid in construction of water and sewer lines. We have talked a lot about the city's assuming its utility responsibilities in such proposed new areas as Stevens Creek. The city has stood in the way of private development of the area while pleading lack of funds with which to do anything itself. Once again, the housing bill stands, or will upon signature of the President, as a new incentive to the city.

Locally, city officials were making their own headlines on Tuesday. City Councilman John Mason is showing an interest in a crackdown on local gambling. At one point, he fell victim to a common error—an error of assumption.

The councilman at one point turned to Public Safety Director Emmett Junge and asked: "What can the Police Department do about the places that you and I and our friends know exist?" Junge replied, "I personally don't know of any." That exchange reminds us of the disillusioned citizen who likes to talk about "payoffs" at the City Hall. What payoffs, you ask him, and you get a generality in regard to crooked deals that "everybody knows about." Of course, everybody knows nothing of the sort but the old common-knowledge dodge is a good substitute for the lack of solid facts.

Councilman Mason, of course, may well know of some gambling operations in Lincoln. It would not really be too surprising if a bookmaker or two were operating and perhaps a dice game or poker table. Gossip is that a substantial gambling operation is conducted regularly behind the front of a business establishment a few miles north on Highway 77 on the east side of the roadway. If so, however, it is a matter for county enforcement, not city. While such things can be expected to pop up now and then, they cannot be condoned simply because they are on a small scale. If you allow the small-scale stuff to persist, it will soon grow to extensive and highly professional proportions. Thus, Mason is correct in calling for an investigation of gambling if he suspects its existence and for a crackdown if his suspicions are shown to be well founded.

Gambling is a little like a chronic ulcer. Take good care of the ulcer and it will give you little trouble, but forget about it in the pursuit of rich foods and refreshing beverages and it will give you a fit. Gambling control requires the same kind of constant attention.

It is something that seems always to lurk below the surface of the community. It is a temptation that runs in the blood of some people and can be resisted only in the absence of all opportunity. It is a credit to the Lincoln Police Department that gambling has no real hold on this community. The department can be expected to welcome Mason's interest and to give him every cooperation.

Reasonable Fee

The City Council on Monday also gave its official approval to fees established for admission to the Lincoln Children's Zoo. The admission will be 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. Some will complain about this but they would find something to complain about if you paid them to go to the zoo. Others will understand that the price is little enough to support the zoo which was provided without tax money and is hoping to continue to expand and operate without tax money.

They will understand that the zoo offers a tremendous variety of entertainment for the price of admission and that the cost of feeding the animals and paying the zoo personnel that are essential are no small cost items. Where else can you get, if you want it, a whole day's entertainment for such a price?

Financial Complexities

Squeezing in a little business between its main course of politics, the National Governor's Conference is taking a look at a proposal supported by Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska. The proposal is for the federal government to return some of the loot it gets from the states back to the states for their own use.

There would be no strings attached to the money. Governor Morrison has long advocated this idea, giving it priority, even, to any other proposed broadening of the Nebraska tax base. Yet, the government gets its money from an income tax, a measure which the governor of Nebraska has tried to block but reluctantly allowed to become law in the state without the blessing of his signature.

Why is it good for the federal government to levy an income tax against Nebraskans and give a part of it back but bad for the state government to levy such a tax on its own hook? And when Uncle Sam does the work for you, he takes a little handling charge for his efforts. It would seem we would be better off to levy the taxes we want ourselves and maintain our independence of the federal government.

When we pay into the federal government and get back federal aid, it should serve an incentive purpose. This is an acceptable procedure when the federal government is helping states where they are unable or unwilling to help themselves. But if the federal government provides no stimulant to progressive action, it might as well stay out of things to begin with. Nebraska, incidentally, already gets more than 50 percent of its total state budget from federal aid funds, grounds for grabbing its own bootstraps rather than looking for a bigger handout.

Easing The Rules

The city council amended and softened the ordinance destined to control the licensing and behaviour of the city's teenage clubs.

Stricken from the original proposal were the requirements of city appointed matrons or inspectors, except at the discretion of the mayor, and the requirement of written consent of parents permitting teen-age participation. Retained was the requirement for adequate lighting and the bar against selling cigarets and permitting intoxicants.

That should be enough for a beginning. To have spelled out any number of do's and don'ts would have deprived the teenagers of any original responsibility, and probably of any fun too.

In the ultimate the success and acceptibility of teen-age clubs lies in the behaviour of the young people. If they disregard the normal restraints the effort will be a failure regardless of the number of rules promulgated by the city government. If they behave well, the rules will not be needed.

It is better to start out with faith in the young folks.

It may be that the adult mind is not proud of adult behaviour and always seeks stringent rules to keep teen-agers a cut in the deck better than most adults. In that narrow sense rules can be justified. But we have yet to see sufficient evidence that our young folks will not maintain that higher level on their own and until we have such evidence the promulgation of a great batch of regulations constitutes a case of declaring the young people guilty without a trial.

Beware Of The Greeks

Now we see the Wall Street Journal, the National City Bank of New York City and other non-agricultural friends coming out strongly in behalf of the farmer and against the current subsidy plan for wheat.

They are especially concerned about the certificate program which requires the millers to buy certificates from the government in order to buy wheat at market prices from the farmer. The cost of the certificates either can be absorbed by the processor or recovered from the consumer by higher prices.

They see in this arrangement a bread tax against the poor, a means of making the big farmer richer and the small farmer poorer. The whole thing, they say, is in conflict with the administration's war on poverty.

We advise the wheat farmers not to get too carried away by this appeal for justice. There is something wrong with it. In the first place these compassionate interests are fighting for themselves and not the farmers. In the second place only 2½ cents of every 25 cent loaf of bread is devoted to buying flour. A fifty per cent increase in the price of wheat when financed by a milling certificate would only amount to a 1.25 cent increase in the cost of production of a loaf of bread. Moreover, as wheat has failed to maintain its price over recent years the cost of bread has risen from 10 cents a loaf to 25 cents. The bakers have pointed out that capital and labor costs and other expense have forced the increase—all of which is to say that the cost of raw wheat has very little influence on the price of bread.

The real issue in the matter is that the Department of Agriculture is trying to get out of the high cost of supporting wheat at the expense of the taxpayers and its own budget and is farming out some of the cost to the processors.

Chilean President Seeks World Aid

Officially, when Chilean President Eduardo Frei left Santiago for a 23-day visit to four European countries, his trip had no significance beyond getting some publicity and prestige for his country abroad.

But the fact is that the man who last year won the most impressive election victory for Democratic forces in recent Latin American history has set out on an urgent mission to seek help.

He sought help not for himself or his party but against the spread of the Latin military.

Frei's Christian Democrats clinched their hold on Chile's government four months ago, when they gained an unprecedented absolute majority of seats in the Chamber of Deputies. It is the first time since World War I that any party has enjoyed such an edge in the Chilean congress.

But what has President Frei deeply concerned is the political trend in neighboring countries, which could leave Chile an isolated strip of democracy all but surrounded by totalitarian regimes.

Reaction throughout South America to U.S. intervention in Santo Domingo has been mostly unfavorable and is growing more so.

What Frei fears is that military elements in Argentina will take advantage of unrest created there by these developments — plus the country's rapidly deteriorating economic situation—to seize power once again from civilian authorities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Then, with brass hats also ruling in Brazil, Bolivia and Paraguay, Frei believes that pressure on little Uruguay, which is in even worse straits economically than Argentina, would be too great for its nine-man federal council, now split into four quarreling factions.

If the military took over there too, Chile would be hemmed in by a bloc of dictatorships, except for Peru on the north. And Chilean-Peruvian relations have never been too good since their war 90 years ago.

☆ ☆ ☆

Actually, Frei's chief worry is over the impetus that all this would be likely to give communism in his part of the world. Right now, Chile's Reds are pro-Castro and pro-Peking, while those in all the other countries named, except Peru, are oriented toward Moscow.

But the chief executive, a sophisticated student of international politics, knows that nothing could bring these rivals together so surely as resurgence of de facto military regimes over two-thirds of South America.

That is because nothing favors the communist cause like supression of Democratic freedoms, and its followers are amply trained and organized to operate outside the law.

Governors Dislike Poverty Program

MINNEAPOLIS — A deep, bitter undercurrent of hostility to President Johnson's poverty program as presently conceived and administered is the major political development of this off-year governors' conference.

To many of the nation's governors, it seems that the new federal project is setting up a second government in their constituencies with naked and unashamed appeal to mass voting blocs. Politicians themselves, they recognize the political possibilities in increasingly urban America, and they are wary and suspicious as they watch from the sidelines.

Leadership on the issue appeared in the early hours from Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, chairman of the conference and a Democrat. Sawyer bluntly urged the governors to fight to retain and expand their present limited veto over certain parts of the poverty program. That partial power was granted by Congress after the governors complained.

Since then they have watched uneasily as organizations, state and local, were set up by Poverty Director Sargent Shriver about which governors and mayors have had relatively little to say.

The program, Sawyer reminded the conference, is extremely broad in concept, with literally thousands of administrators. These administrators have a kitty of $1.9 billion from which to dispense favors. They themselves enjoy a salary scale sufficient to attract able men.

Sawyer supports the war on poverty and insists it can be one of the most humane and worthy projects the federal government has undertaken. This does not shake his view that it is dangerous to let it proceed outside the established channels of government under direction that is responsible not to the voters but to one man, the President.

Shriver, a brother-in-law of the late President Kennedy and also director of the Peace Corps, is due here Wednesday to discuss the situation. If the governors let go as they have been doing in private about their misgivings, it could be a lively session.

Essentially, however, their argument is with the President, and their recourse is to the Congress. Shriver is expendable, despite his admitted abilities, and there is not much point in putting the heat on him except as a way of letting the President and Congress know how they feel.

Few governors have a firm opinion about the poverty administrator, though he may join them one day. Illinois Democrats once sought to draft him for governor. Now the Democrats of Maryland, where his family roots are deep and he now resides, are talking of the same thing.

Men whom he has tried to enlist in his program report that he has described it as an avenue to political knowledge of the country and eventual political preferment. The governors agree with all that.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Peru Has Hopeful Future

LIMA, Peru — Plans, dreams, visions as tall as the snow-capped Andes and as broad as the sweep of jungle and plain on the eastern slope —these are part of the dynamism of Peru's president, Fernando Belaunde Terry. One of the two or three truly hopeful leaders in Latin America, Belaunde believes his country can move into the mainstream of the 20th century by means short of the dictatorships prevailing in the past.

It is a stupendous undertaking but as he talks of the future in the context of the present moment, which is for many reasons critical for his government, you can believe that he will succeed. The plan dominating all others in his thinking is the great road along the eastern slope of the Andes linking Colombia, Ecuador, Bolivia and Peru.

Belaunde sees it as a hemispheric project comparable to the Panama Canal or the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Alliance For Progress has become atomized, fragmented, with the vision of a unifying force lost in a series of projects scattered from country to country. The great highway, in Belaunde's vision, would open up vast new fertile lands for settlement. It would send commerce into the great waterways—the Amazon, the Orinoco and La Plata.

☆ ☆ ☆

As a unifying force it would diminish the petty nationalism which is one of the curses of Latin America. Peru and Ecuador, for example, have long feuded over a border strip of almost empty jungle. But, like almost everything else in this land the highway is fiercely controversial, with the critics saying that instead of contributing to the colonization of empty lands it will be an exit road for escape to the overcrowded cities. Nevertheless, Peruvian sections of the highway are already under construction.

The fiercest controversy, dividing the political parties and threatening Belaunde who must cope with a Congress controlled by the opposition, is over an issue fundamental to all of Latin America. That is the ownership by foreign corporations, mostly American, of public utilities and commodity industries. In the attack of the political left this is "economic colonialism" and it must be liquidated.

The immediate crisis is over a wholly owned subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, the International Petroleum Corporation. Forty years ago IPC acquired the leases of a British company with the right in perpetuity to the land including the subsoil and all the minerals it might contain. IPC also does most of the distributing in the country under the ESSO sign.

In the campaign two years ago IPC's hold on a major industry was a hot issue, with Belaunde himself saying some pretty inflammable things. Still unresolved, it is hotter today with an important faction in Belaunde's own popular action party and the Christian Democrats, who are in the government coalition, demanding nationalization of Standard's whole operation. Nationalization would almost certainly mean a break with the United States and dim, if not extinguish, hopes for the great highway that must count on help from the Agency for International Development.

Belaunde speaks with some resentment of the failure of the State Department in Washington to bring pressure on the oil company for a settlement. Still confident that the issue can be settled short of a break one way or another—the opposition parties and the trade union in the oil industry oppose nationalization—he calls it in his often colloquial English one of his biggest headaches. And any president in this seething continent has more than enough headaches.

There are some who assume this is just a quarrel among the politicos but it would seem to have deeper roots. This reporter toured the Barriada called Comas, the largest of the squatter settlements that in one degree of misery and squalor or another add up to perhaps half of Lima's population of 2,000,000.

Comas has many small houses of cinder block and adobe, palatial alongside the shacks made of reed mats in which most of the squatters live without water or sanitation. On many of the walls were slogans painted in red calling for the nationalization of the oil properties. These barriadas, in which life is one long painful endurance contest, are a tinderbox that could go up in flames and put an end to Belaunde's hopes.

He has shown great shrewdness in using available resources to get his program of housing and land reform — 100,000 units in town and country assigned to individual owners by the year's end — and development of industries, with fishing and fish meal leading all other countries, moving as fast as possible. For the army, the navy and the air force he has instituted a civic action program. Roads are built and trails opened up by the army while the navy, operating on the Amazon and its remoter tributaries, carries out health and other civic programs. The air force supplies transportation at a minimum cost to overcome the often trackless distances in a country of mountains and jungle largely untouched.

As for the Communist threat, which gets great play in the Lima papers, Belaunde believes the terrorism is mostly banditry, with a thin gloss of ideology and a little help from Havana and Moscow. Resolutely he says that a small part of the answer is military action to suppress banditry; the [illegible]al answer is social reforms to end the ills of centuries of proverty.

ADC Funds

Lincoln, Neb.

A Star editorial tells of a "minority" of children who are denied the benefit of their ADC allowances by the misconduct of their mothers. To admit the existence of such children is a tacit admission of the failure of our welfare system where they are concerned.

We have tried repeatedly to arrive at a compromise whereby ADC would be raised and in the same bill provisions would be made to protect this neglected minority of children from parental misconduct.

Unfortunately, both Senator Orme and the Lincoln papers have taken an extremist stand which makes this impossible.

Why? To misquote a recent writer: "Do they want to drive their little faces into the mud and say: 'You were born there—stay there'?"

Bargaining Right

Unadilla, Neb.

I see that the Nebraska Legislature and the governor went along with the leaders of the radical right — Multimillionaire industrial farmers and anti-union businessmen—in joining forces in an all-out effort to keep this so-called phony right-to-work law, 14-B, on the statute books.

As a farmer, I vigorously oppose these groups' efforts to preserve Taft-Hartley because family farmers would be the losers. Action to weaken the bargaining power of labor unions and working people tends to reduce their purchasing power. The farmers' best customers are the working people and they are adversely affected when their best customers lose income. When will the Nebraska monopolizers permit working people the right to have an effective voice in bargaining collectively with management?

I understand that so-called phony "right-to-work" laws were devised to destroy collective bargaining. They do not provide any right to work, in fact, they take away this right. Their purpose is to outlaw the right and freedom of the nation's working people to have a voice in determining the worth of their labor and to bargain for fair wages. Taft-Hartley is disruptive of industrial peace and a brake on the national economy. I know, as a farmer for many years, what this right to work means. I had the right to work, all right, but when the end of the year came and time to market my crops, I had no right to say what I should have for my labor. The other fellow had the say.

This is the picture I see of labor and farmers under this phony right-to-work law which Nebraska has. Farmers and laboring people should wake up to these sweat-shoppers and the wages they pay.

I voted for Rep. Clair Callan every time he ran for office, and I am for him all the way if he votes for the farm bill and for repeal of Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law.

We have to have this farm bill or the farmers are going out of business and "broke." Too many have gone that way already.

Use Of A-Bomb

Lincoln, Neb.

Why don't we use the atomic bomb in Viet Nam? When it was a question of saving American lives on the proposed invasion of Japan, we did not hesitate to use the bomb. Now when our young men are giving their lives in Viet Nam, we all of a sudden have developed moral reservations.

The communists know only one thing, and that is power. We have committed ourselves in Viet Nam and to the defense of freedom in the world. We should use all means available to us in order to win.

The Korean War was an example of what happens when the great United States backs down to the "all-powerful Chinese." If we had used all means then to destroy and not only to contain communism in Korea, there would be no Viet Nam conflict now.

Many Municipal Affairs

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

From Congress on down, it looked yesterday like "National Municipal Day." In Congress, action was taken on the new administration housing bill, putting the measure in line for signature by President Johnson as early as Wednesday. Lincoln officials should have noticed in the bill provisions for a lot of things besides housing.

Another Look At Malls

On Thursday of this week there will be another meeting of interested citizens in regard to development of a mall for downtown Lincoln. They are citizens with an interest in general in their community. If they still have an interest in a mall development, they also have the attribute of patience since we have looked at and discussed more mall ideas in the past 10 years than one would think possible of coming up with in a lifetime. But a new incentive will be present Thursday—the housing bill that will make federal funds available for the development of malls.

Also a part of that bill are funds for federal aid in construction of water and sewer lines. We have talked a lot about the city's assuming its utility responsibilities in such proposed new areas as Stevens Creek. The city has stood in the way of private development of the area while pleading lack of funds with which to do anything itself. Once again, the housing bill stands, or will upon signature of the President, as a new incentive to the city.

Locally, city officials were making their own headlines on Tuesday. City Councilman John Mason is showing an interest in a crackdown on local gambling. At one point, he fell victim to a common error—an error of assumption.

The councilman at one point turned to Public Safety Director Emmett Junge and asked: "What can the Police Department do about the places that you and I and our friends know exist?" Junge replied, "I personally don't know of any." That exchange reminds us of the disillusioned citizen who likes to talk about "payoffs" at the City Hall. What payoffs, you ask him, and you get a generality in regard to crooked deals that "everybody knows about." Of course, everybody knows nothing of the sort but the old common-knowledge dodge is a good substitute for the lack of solid facts.

Councilman Mason, of course, may well know of some gambling operations in Lincoln. It would not really be too surprising if a bookmaker or two were operating and perhaps a dice game or poker table. Gossip is that a substantial gambling operation is conducted regularly behind the front of a business establishment a few miles north on Highway 77 on the east side of the roadway. If so, however, it is a matter for county enforcement, not city. While such things can be expected to pop up now and then, they cannot be condoned simply because they are on a small scale. If you allow the small-scale stuff to persist, it will soon grow to extensive and highly professional proportions. Thus, Mason is correct in calling for an investigation of gambling if he suspects its existence and for a crackdown if his suspicions are shown to be well founded.

Gambling is a little like a chronic ulcer. Take good care of the ulcer and it will give you little trouble, but forget about it in the pursuit of rich foods and refreshing beverages and it will give you a fit. Gambling control requires the same kind of constant attention.

It is something that seems always to lurk below the surface of the community. It is a temptation that runs in the blood of some people and can be resisted only in the absence of all opportunity. It is a credit to the Lincoln Police Department that gambling has no real hold on this community. The department can be expected to welcome Mason's interest and to give him every cooperation.

Reasonable Fee

The City Council on Monday also gave its official approval to fees established for admission to the Lincoln Children's Zoo. The admission will be 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. Some will complain about this but they would find something to complain about if you paid them to go to the zoo. Others will understand that the price is little enough to support the zoo which was provided without tax money and is hoping to continue to expand and operate without tax money.

They will understand that the zoo offers a tremendous variety of entertainment for the price of admission and that the cost of feeding the animals and paying the zoo personnel that are essential are no small cost items. Where else can you get, if you want it, a whole day's entertainment for such a price?

Financial Complexities

Squeezing in a little business between its main course of politics, the National Governor's Conference is taking a look at a proposal supported by Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska. The proposal is for the federal government to return some of the loot it gets from the states back to the states for their own use.

There would be no strings attached to the money. Governor Morrison has long advocated this idea, giving it priority, even, to any other proposed broadening of the Nebraska tax base. Yet, the government gets its money from an income tax, a measure which the governor of Nebraska has tried to block but reluctantly allowed to become law in the state without the blessing of his signature.

Why is it good for the federal government to levy an income tax against Nebraskans and give a part of it back but bad for the state government to levy such a tax on its own hook? And when Uncle Sam does the work for you, he takes a little handling charge for his efforts. It would seem we would be better off to levy the taxes we want ourselves and maintain our independence of the federal government.

When we pay into the federal government and get back federal aid, it should serve an incentive purpose. This is an acceptable procedure when the federal government is helping states where they are unable or unwilling to help themselves. But if the federal government provides no stimulant to progressive action, it might as well stay out of things to begin with. Nebraska, incidentally, already gets more than 50 percent of its total state budget from federal aid funds, grounds for grabbing its own bootstraps rather than looking for a bigger handout.

Easing The Rules

The city council amended and softened the ordinance destined to control the licensing and behaviour of the city's teenage clubs.

Stricken from the original proposal were the requirements of city appointed matrons or inspectors, except at the discretion of the mayor, and the requirement of written consent of parents permitting teen-age participation. Retained was the requirement for adequate lighting and the bar against selling cigarets and permitting intoxicants.

That should be enough for a beginning. To have spelled out any number of do's and don'ts would have deprived the teenagers of any original responsibility, and probably of any fun too.

In the ultimate the success and acceptibility of teen-age clubs lies in the behaviour of the young people. If they disregard the normal restraints the effort will be a failure regardless of the number of rules promulgated by the city government. If they behave well, the rules will not be needed.

It is better to start out with faith in the young folks.

It may be that the adult mind is not proud of adult behaviour and always seeks stringent rules to keep teen-agers a cut in the deck better than most adults. In that narrow sense rules can be justified. But we have yet to see sufficient evidence that our young folks will not maintain that higher level on their own and until we have such evidence the promulgation of a great batch of regulations constitutes a case of declaring the young people guilty without a trial.

Beware Of The Greeks

Now we see the Wall Street Journal, the National City Bank of New York City and other non-agricultural friends coming out strongly in behalf of the farmer and against the current subsidy plan for wheat.

They are especially concerned about the certificate program which requires the millers to buy certificates from the government in order to buy wheat at market prices from the farmer. The cost of the certificates either can be absorbed by the processor or recovered from the consumer by higher prices.

They see in this arrangement a bread tax against the poor, a means of making the big farmer richer and the small farmer poorer. The whole thing, they say, is in conflict with the administration's war on poverty.

We advise the wheat farmers not to get too carried away by this appeal for justice. There is something wrong with it. In the first place these compassionate interests are fighting for themselves and not the farmers. In the second place only 2½ cents of every 25 cent loaf of bread is devoted to buying flour. A fifty per cent increase in the price of wheat when financed by a milling certificate would only amount to a 1.25 cent increase in the cost of production of a loaf of bread. Moreover, as wheat has failed to maintain its price over recent years the cost of bread has risen from 10 cents a loaf to 25 cents. The bakers have pointed out that capital and labor costs and other expense have forced the increase—all of which is to say that the cost of raw wheat has very little influence on the price of bread.

The real issue in the matter is that the Department of Agriculture is trying to get out of the high cost of supporting wheat at the expense of the taxpayers and its own budget and is farming out some of the cost to the processors.

Chilean President Seeks World Aid

Officially, when Chilean President Eduardo Frei left Santiago for a 23-day visit to four European countries, his trip had no significance beyond getting some publicity and prestige for his country abroad.

But the fact is that the man who last year won the most impressive election victory for Democratic forces in recent Latin American history has set out on an urgent mission to seek help.

He sought help not for himself or his party but against the spread of the Latin military.

Frei's Christian Democrats clinched their hold on Chile's government four months ago, when they gained an unprecedented absolute majority of seats in the Chamber of Deputies. It is the first time since World War I that any party has enjoyed such an edge in the Chilean congress.

But what has President Frei deeply concerned is the political trend in neighboring countries, which could leave Chile an isolated strip of democracy all but surrounded by totalitarian regimes.

Reaction throughout South America to U.S. intervention in Santo Domingo has been mostly unfavorable and is growing more so.

What Frei fears is that military elements in Argentina will take advantage of unrest created there by these developments — plus the country's rapidly deteriorating economic situation—to seize power once again from civilian authorities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Then, with brass hats also ruling in Brazil, Bolivia and Paraguay, Frei believes that pressure on little Uruguay, which is in even worse straits economically than Argentina, would be too great for its nine-man federal council, now split into four quarreling factions.

If the military took over there too, Chile would be hemmed in by a bloc of dictatorships, except for Peru on the north. And Chilean-Peruvian relations have never been too good since their war 90 years ago.

☆ ☆ ☆

Actually, Frei's chief worry is over the impetus that all this would be likely to give communism in his part of the world. Right now, Chile's Reds are pro-Castro and pro-Peking, while those in all the other countries named, except Peru, are oriented toward Moscow.

But the chief executive, a sophisticated student of international politics, knows that nothing could bring these rivals together so surely as resurgence of de facto military regimes over two-thirds of South America.

That is because nothing favors the communist cause like supression of Democratic freedoms, and its followers are amply trained and organized to operate outside the law.

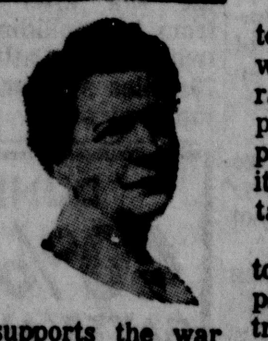
Governors Dislike Poverty Program



MINNEAPOLIS — A deep, bitter undercurrent of hostility to President Johnson's poverty program as presently conceived and administered is the major political development of this off-year governors' conference.

To many of the nation's governors, it seems that the new federal project is setting up a second government in their constituencies with naked and unashamed appeal to mass voting blocs. Politicians themselves, they recognize the political possibilities in increasingly urban America, and they are wary and suspicious as they watch from the sidelines.

Leadership on the issue appeared in the early hours from Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, chairman of the conference and a Democrat. Sawyer bluntly urged the governors to fight to retain and expand their present limited veto over certain parts of the poverty program. That partial power was granted by Congress after the governors complained.

Since then they have watched uneasily as organizations, state and local, were set up by Poverty Director Sargent Shriver about which governors and mayors have had relatively little to say.

The program, Sawyer reminded the conference, is extremely broad in concept, with literally thousands of administrators. These administrators have a kitty of $1.9 billion from which to dispense favors. They themselves enjoy a salary scale sufficient to attract able men.

Sawyer supports the war on poverty and insists it can be one of the most humane and worthy projects the federal government has undertaken. This does not shake his view that it is dangerous to let it proceed outside the established channels of government under direction that is responsible not to the voters but to one man, the President.

Shriver, a brother-in-law of the late President Kennedy and also director of the Peace Corps, is due here Wednesday to discuss the situation. If the governors let go as they have been doing in private about their misgivings, it could be a lively session.

Essentially, however, their argument is with the President, and their recourse is to the Congress. Shriver is expendable, despite his admitted abilities, and there is not much point in putting the heat on him except as a way of letting the President and Congress know how they feel.

Few governors have a firm opinion about the poverty administrator, though he may join them one day. Illinois Democrats once sought to draft him for governor. Now the Democrats of Maryland, where his family roots are deep and he now resides, are talking of the same thing.

Men whom he has tried to enlist in his program report that he has described it as an avenue to political knowledge of the country and eventual political preferment. The governors agree with all that.

Peru Has Hopeful Future

LIMA, Peru — Plans, dreams, visions as tall as the snow-capped Andes and as broad as the sweep of jungle and plain on the eastern slope—these are part of the dynamism of Peru's president, Fernando Belaunde Terry. One of the two or three truly hopeful leaders in Latin America, Belaunde believes his country can move into the mainstream of the 20th century by means short of the dictatorships prevailing in the past.

It is a stupendous undertaking but as he talks of the future in the context of the present moment, which is for many reasons critical for his government, you can believe that he will succeed. The plan dominating all others in his thinking is the great road along the eastern slope of the Andes linking Colombia, Ecuador, Bolivia and Peru.

Belaunde sees it as a hemispheric project comparable to the Panama Canal or the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Alliance For Progress has become atomized, fragmented, with the vision of a unifying force lost in a series of projects scattered from country to country. The great highway, in Belaunde's vision, would open up vast new fertile lands for settlement. It would send commerce into the great waterways—the Amazon, the Orinoco and La Plata.

☆ ☆ ☆

As a unifying force it would diminish the petty nationalism which is one of the curses of Latin America. Peru and Ecuador, for example, have long feuded over a border strip of almost empty jungle. But, like almost everything else in this land the highway is fiercely controversial, with the critics saying that instead of contributing to the colonization of empty lands it will be an exit road for escape to the overcrowded cities. Nevertheless, Peruvian sections of the highway are already under construction.

The fiercest controversy, dividing the political parties and threatening Belaunde who must cope with a Congress controlled by the opposition, is over an issue fundamental to all of Latin America. That is the ownership by foreign corporations, mostly American, of public utilities and commodity industries. In the attack of the political left this is "economic colonialism" and it must be liquidated.

The immediate crisis is over a wholly owned subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, the International Petroleum Corporation. Forty years ago IPC acquired the leases of a British company with the right in perpetuity to the land including the subsoil and all the minerals it might contain. IPC also does most of the distributing in the country under the ESSO sign.

In the campaign two years ago IPC's hold on a major industry was a hot issue, with Belaunde himself saying some pretty inflammable things. Still unresolved, it is hotter today with an important faction in Belaunde's own popular action party and the Christian Democrats, who are in the government coalition, demanding nationalization of Standard's whole operation. Nationalization would almost certainly mean a break with the United States and dim, if not extinguish, hopes for the great highway that must count on help from the Agency for International Development.

Belaunde speaks with some resentment of the failure of the State Department in Washington to bring pressure on the oil company for a settlement. Still confident that the issue can be settled short of a break one way or another—the opposition parties and the trade union in the oil industry oppose nationalization—he calls it in his often colloquial English one of his biggest headaches. And any president in this seething continent has more than enough headaches.

There are some who assume this is just a quarrel among the politicos but it would seem to have deeper roots. This reporter toured the Barriada called Comas, the largest of the squatter settlements that in one degree of misery and squalor or another add up to perhaps half of Lima's population of 2,000,000.

Comas has many small houses of cinder block and adobe, palatial alongside the shacks made of reed mats in which most of the squatters live without water or sanitation. On many of the walls were slogans painted in red calling for the nationalization of the oil properties. These barriadas, in which life is one long painful endurance contest, are a tinderbox that could go up in flames and put an end to Belaunde's hopes.

He has shown great shrewdness in using available resources to get his program of housing and land reform — 100,000 units in town and country assigned to individual owners by the year's end — and development of industries, with fishing and fish meal leading all other countries, moving as fast as possible. For the army, the navy and the air force he has instituted a civic action program. Roads are built and trails opened up by the army while the navy, operating on the Amazon and its remoter tributaries, carries out health and other civic programs. The air force supplies transportation at a minimum cost to overcome the often trackless distances in a country of mountains and jungle largely untouched.

As for the Communist threat, which gets great play in the Lima papers, Belaunde believes the terrorism is mostly banditry, with a thin gloss of ideology and a little help from Havana and Moscow. Resolutely he says that a small part of the answer is military action to suppress banditry; the [illegible]al answer is social reforms to end the ills of centuries of proverty.

ADC Funds

Lincoln, Neb.

A Star editorial tells of a "minority" of children who are denied the benefit of their ADC allowances by the misconduct of their mothers. To admit the existence of such children is a tacit admission of the failure of our welfare system where they are concerned.

We have tried repeatedly to arrive at a compromise whereby ADC would be raised and in the same bill provisions would be made to protect this neglected minority of children from parental misconduct.

Unfortunately, both Senator Orme and the Lincoln papers have taken an extremist stand which makes this impossible.

Why? To misquote a recent writer: "Do they want to drive their little faces into the mud and say: 'You were born there—stay there'?"

Bargaining Right

Unadilla, Neb.

I see that the Nebraska Legislature and the governor went along with the leaders of the radical right — Multimillionaire industrial farmers and anti-union businessmen—in joining forces in an all-out effort to keep this so-called phony right-to-work law, 14-B, on the statute books.

As a farmer, I vigorously oppose these groups' efforts to preserve Taft-Hartley because family farmers would be the losers. Action to weaken the bargaining power of labor unions and working people tends to reduce their purchasing power. The farmers' best customers are the working people and they are adversely affected when their best customers lose income. When will the Nebraska monopolizers permit working people the right to have an effective voice in bargaining collectively with management?

I understand that so-called phony "right-to-work" laws were devised to destroy collective bargaining. They do not provide any right to work, in fact, they take away this right. Their purpose is to outlaw the right and freedom of the nation's working people to have a voice in determining the worth of their labor and to bargain for fair wages. Taft-Hartley is disruptive of industrial peace and a brake on the national economy. I know, as a farmer for many years, what this right to work means. School Board Okays 1965-66 Budget Calling For Increase Of $2.3 Million

An $18,946,418 budget for 1965-66, $2.3 million more than last year, received Lincoln Board of Education approval Tuesday.

Approval came amid controversy over policy-making which erupted during a questiton on a "107% increase" in the junior high athletic budget.

Reed Schaefer, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, said that there would "undoubtedly" have to be a mill levy increase from the present 49.99 to accommodate the budget.

The Lancaster County Commissioners will now receive the school district's budget, set the mill levy and collect the $12,254,600 needed in taxes.

School Supt. Steven N. Watkins pointed out that the money received from taxes would be distributed in this manner: general fund, $10,090,400; building fund, $561,700; bond interest fund, $412,500; bond sinking fund, $747,000; and employes' retirement fund, $443,000.

Major Increase

Watkins noted that the major increase in this year's budget is for the personnel salary increases granted by the board in May.

Schaefer explained that the $561,700 set for a building fund from taxes, together with the remainder of the 1962 bond issue, bond investment interest and University of Nebraska fees for use of Clare McPhee Laboratory School, would amount to a total $6,979,853 building fund.

The bulk of this fund is committed to the new East High School construction and major renovations. However, Schaefer said that there would be some $1,103,905 for necessary school additions. He added that he thought the board was also considering a Belmont junior high as a use for the building fund.

More Federal Taxes

In addition to an increase in the amount of money to be set aside for the building fund, the board included budget increases for more federal taxes for the expanded Social Security programs.

The board revealed during its budget discussion that a new policy concerning junior high athletics might be in the offing.

Board member Dr. John Lux pointed out the budget increase included for this activity and demanded that any new athletic policy receive the approval of the board, although other board members stated that they did not think the board should assume such a function.

Watkins pointed out that the board does act on policies which are contained in the school's handbook. He noted that any recommendations from a committee studying the possibility of intramurals and extramurals on the junior high level would be an addition to the policy, and therefore will have board action.

The superintendent said that including the money in the budget for such a program "merely makes extension of the policy possible if approved."

To Come Before Board

Watkins indicated that the matter of junior high athletics, contained in a handbook that is being prepared, will come before the board within the next month.

In other action the board:

—Approved payment of $7,512.69 to the election commission for the school's share of election costs.

—Approved the expenditure of $320 for membership fees and publication costs of the Nebraska State and National School Boards Associations.

—Denied the request of Dr. G. W. Kalios to rezone property at 48th and M, across from Hawthorne School, for a medical-dental building.

—Approved the lease cost of $3 per square foot per year for Manpower projects in a building to be constructed at 630 No. 48th.

—Approved the use of the Johnson Activities Building for a Lincoln Recreation Department dance Aug. 7.

—Accepted the following low bids: 12 wet and dry vacuums from Peglers for $1,468; five floor polishing machines from Peglers for $1,120; 31 garbage containers from Omaha Standards for $3,782; chain link fencing from Omaha Fabrication, Inc., for $4,874; fuel tanks from Yant Equipment for $2,769; 6,000 feet black pipe from Capital Steel for $3,897; roof repair at Holmes School by A-1 Roofing for $5,700; rewiring Lincoln Northeast by Commonwealth Electric for $139,970; concrete approaches at Seacrest Field by Abel Construction Co. for $4,541; sewing machines from McMahans for $2,977; 100 standard typewriters from Remington for $4,080; nine 15-inch typewriters from Nebraska Typewriter for $882.

—Authorized the schools to sell two National Cash Register bookkeeping machines at a minimum price of $3,900 each.

Requests For Added Police, Park Help Viewed Favorably By Council

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council responded favorably to requests for additional police personnel and supplemental park department expenditures as review of Mayor Dean Petersen's proposed city budget for fiscal 1965-66 continued Tuesday night.

Although the council indicated it wanted to study further the total budget requests of each division under consideration Tuesday, supplemental requests by Police Chief Joe Carroll for up to 15 additional men and by James Ager, acting parks director, for an extra $17,000 in salaries and radio equipment seemed assured of approval.

Also approved was a 12-inch water feeder main project to be located in Cornhusker Highway, from Jersey St. west to Interstate 80, a water construction budget item due for consideration Friday.

In presenting the project early at the request of Norden Laboratories, Lee Blocker, acting director of public utilities, told the council that the water main, a $32,000 project, would also benefit service in West Lincoln and Lincoln Air Force Base.

Not Lacking

Carroll said in explaining his budget requests that the department was not lacking in equipment but suggested the council consider adding 15 more officers at a cost of $79,200, as part of a three-year program designed to bring the force's strength up to 180 men.

Carroll said additional personnel are needed as a deterrent factor in preventing crime, to implement follow-up investigations and to help reduce a build-up in overtime hours accumulated by the present force.

Following are the divisions reviewed, 1965-66 budget requests, amount of increase over last year and major expenditures:

Parks—Requested $892,315, up $56,269 over 1964-65. A general increase in salaries, operating and maintenance expenses and capital improvements, including $50,000 for a parks and recreation office building.

Landscape Artist

Ager asked for an additional $10,000 in the salary account, $7,000 for two-way radio equipment in park department vehicles and $6,700 for hiring a landscape artist.

Tennis — 2,000 requested, the same as last year. The council will consider adding $6,500 for tennis court lighting.

Golf — For Holmes and Pioneers golf courses, an increase of approximately $5,000, up to $158,630. Increase is due to improvements at Holmes.

Recreation — Recreation Supt. Bob Dula has asked for $199,818, an increase of $36,527 over 1964-65.

City Property—Up $14,825 to $123,995. Biggest item is $20,000 for remodeling police and municipal court building to add a court room and two offices.

Fire — Budget request for the department is $1,476,964, compared to $1,147,102 last year. The major expenditure is for a new $325,000 central fire station at 18th and Q, which will consolidate three existing downtown stations at an estimated savings of $70,000 a year.

For Communications

Police — Request is $1,098,066, an increase of $46,597, mostly in salaries for present personnel. Also additional expenditure for improving communications system.

Supplemental request for 15 more men would add $79,200.

Court Restrains Suspension Of Real Estate Licenses

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele has issued a restraining order temporarilly enjoining the State Real Estate Commission from enforcing a July 21 order suspending the real estate broker's license of Lincoln realtor William R. Swearingen and Culbertson, Roe & Bell Inc.

Scheele ordered the restraining order remain in force during the pendency of court action brought by the realtor asking that the Real Estate Commission's order be set aside and the complaint brought against Culbertson, Roe & Bell be dismissed.

The petition filed by the real estate firm alleges there were "irregularities in and prior to the hearing on June 8 . . . and abuses of discretion by the State Real Estate Commission and the chairman thereof which prevented the plaintiff from having a fair trial."

The plaintiff further contends that the order of the Real Estate Commission suspending the broker's license for six months is not supported by evidence introduced at the hearing and was contrary to law.

The Real Estate Commission in its ruling last week said that it has ascertained as a result of the June 8 hearing that the real estate firm and its president and sole stockholder, Swearingen, had violated Nebraska laws regulating real estate brokers and rules and regulations of the Nebraska Real Estate Commission.

The commission based its action in connection with a transaction involving property at 3219 So. 10th in Lincoln owned by Merle L. Allen.

School Board Okays 1965-66 Budget Calling For Increase Of $2.3 Million

An $18,946,418 budget for 1965-66, $2.3 million more than last year, received Lincoln Board of Education approval Tuesday.

Approval came amid controversy over policy-making which erupted during a questiton on a "107% increase" in the junior high athletic budget.

Reed Schaefer, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, said that there would "undoubtedly" have to be a mill levy increase from the present 49.99 to accommodate the budget.

The Lancaster County Commissioners will now receive the school district's budget, set the mill levy and collect the $12,254,600 needed in taxes.

School Supt. Steven N. Watkins pointed out that the money received from taxes would be distributed in this manner: general fund, $10,090,400; building fund, $561,700; bond interest fund, $412,500; bond sinking fund, $747,000; and employes' retirement fund, $443,000.

Major Increase

Watkins noted that the major increase in this year's budget is for the personnel salary increases granted by the board in May.

Schaefer explained that the $561,700 set for a building fund from taxes, together with the remainder of the 1962 bond issue, bond investment interest and University of Nebraska fees for use of Clare McPhee Laboratory School, would amount to a total $6,979,853 building fund.

The bulk of this fund is committed to the new East High School construction and major renovations. However, Schaefer said that there would be some $1,103,905 for necessary school additions. He added that he thought the board was also considering a Belmont junior high as a use for the building fund.

More Federal Taxes

In addition to an increase in the amount of money to be set aside for the building fund, the board included budget increases for more federal taxes for the expanded Social Security programs.

The board revealed during its budget discussion that a new policy concerning junior high athletics might be in the offing.

Board member Dr. John Lux pointed out the budget increase included for this activity and demanded that any new athletic policy receive the approval of the board, although other board members stated that they did not think the board should assume such a function.

Watkins pointed out that the board does act on policies which are contained in the school's handbook. He noted that any recommendations from a committee studying the possibility of intramurals and extramurals on the junior high level would be an addition to the policy, and therefore will have board action.

The superintendent said that including the money in the budget for such a program "merely makes extension of the policy possible if approved."

To Come Before Board

Watkins indicated that the matter of junior high athletics, contained in a handbook that is being prepared, will come before the board within the next month.

In other action the board:

—Approved payment of $7,512.69 to the election commission for the school's share of election costs.

—Approved the expenditure of $320 for membership fees and publication costs of the Nebraska State and National School Boards Associations.

—Denied the request of Dr. G. W. Kallos to rezone property at 48th and M, across from Hawthorne School, for a medical-dental building.

—Approved the lease cost of $3 per square foot per year for Manpower projects in a building to be constructed at 630 No. 48th.

—Approved the use of the Johnson Activities Building for a Lincoln Recreation Department dance Aug. 7.

—Accepted the following low bids: 12 wet and dry vacuums from Peglers for $1,668; five floor polishing machines from Peglers for $1,120; 31 garbage containers from Omaha Standards for $3,782; chain link fencing from Omaha Fabrication, Inc., for $4,874; fuel tanks from Yant Equipment for $2,769; 6,000 feet black pipe from Capital Steel for $3,897; roof repair at Holmes School by A-1 Roofing for $5,700; rewiring Lincoln Northeast by Commonwealth Electric for $139,970; concrete approaches at Seacrest Field by Abel Construction Co. for $4,341; sewing machines from McMahans for $2,977; 100 standard typewriters from Remington for $4,080; nine 13-inch typewriters from Nebraska Typewriter for $882.

—Authorized the schools to sell two National Cash Register bookkeeping machines at a minimum price of $3,900 each.

Requests For Added Police, Park Help Viewed Favorably By Council

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council responded favorably to requests for additional police personnel and supplemental park department expenditures as review of Mayor Dean Petersen's proposed city budget for fiscal 1965-66 continued Tuesday night.

Although the council indicated it wanted to study further the total budget requests of each division under consideration Tuesday, supplemental requests by Police Chief Joe Carroll for up to 15 additional men and by James Ager, acting parks director, for an extra $17,000 in salaries and radio equipment seemed assured of approval.

Also approved was a 12-inch water feeder main project to be located in Cornhusker Highway, from Jersey St. west to Interstate 80, a water construction budget item due for consideration Friday.

In presenting the project early at the request of Norden Laboratories, Lee Blocker, acting director of public utilities, told the council that the water main, a $32,000 project, would also benefit service in West Lincoln and Lincoln Air Force Base.

Not Lacking

Carroll said in explaining his budget requests that the department was not lacking in equipment but suggested the council consider adding 15 more officers at a cost of $79,200, as part of a three-year program designed to bring the force's strength up to 180 men.

Carroll said additional personnel are needed as a deterrent factor in preventing crime, to implement follow-up investigations and to help reduce a build-up in overtime hours accumulated by the present force.

Following are the divisions reviewed, 1965-66 budget requests, amount of increase over last year and major expenditures:

Parks—Requested $892,315, up $56,269 over 1964-65. A general increase in salaries, operating and maintenance expenses and capital improvements, including $50,000 for a parks and recreation office building.

Landscape Artist

Ager asked for an additional $10,000 in the salary account, $7,000 for two-way radio equipment in park department vehicles and $6,700 for hiring a landscape artist.

Tennis — 2,000 requested, the same as last year. The council will consider adding $6,500 for tennis court lighting.

Golf — For Holmes and Pioneers golf courses, an increase of approximately $5,000, up to $158,630. Increase is due to improvements at Holmes.

Fair Employment Bill Won't Halt Discrimination--Danner

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature Tuesday passed a statewide fair employment practices act but its chief sponsor said the bill will not halt job discrimination.

LB656 sailed through 40-7 on a wave of labor-management support. It will take effect with the governor's signature.

Sen. Edward R. Danner of Omaha, the Unicameral's only Negro member and the introducer of the legislation, told reporters following the roll call vote the bill was "forced on me" and "I don't particularly endorse it."

Danner said it had been so watered down by amendment during its rocky legislative journey that management groups could use it as a vehicle to preclude federal intervention in job discrimination cases.

"I fear it will result in a delay in appealing cases to the federal courts. This is not what I wanted at all." he said.

Danner said he had intended to vote against the measure but changed his mind at the last second, mostly on "impulse."

"There definitely is discrimination in employment in Omaha and elsewhere. This bill will not stop it," he declared.

The legislation was recommended by the State Chamber of Commerce-Associated Industries of Nebraska as an alternative to a much tougher bill proposed originally by Danner. It was approved by the Labor Committee.

The measure, which is modeled after the federal Civil Rights Act, creates a seven-member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission appointed by the governor. Two management and two labor representatives would be included

Danner said the commission composition represented a coalition between labor and management and probably would not resolve any job discrimination problems.

"This commission could become a delaying body and no more. I hope not but it could come to that. I hope it will be fair," he said

The commission will conduct hearings and otherwise investigate labor discrimination complaints.

Failure to comply with an order of the commission could bring a 30-day jail sentence, $100 fine, or both. However, all orders may be appealed to the state district courts.

Ultimately, the act will apply to all employers with more than 25 workers. But through mid-1966 those with less than 100 will not be covered, through mid-1967 those with less than 75 will not be covered, and through mid-1968 those with less than 50 will not be covered.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, a co-sponsor, called the bill "significant to the betterment of the minority groups." He said Nebraska does not have a wide-spread job discrimination problem but that "it's good to have a law on the books as a reminder to employers."

Opposition votes to final passage of LB656 were cast by Sens. Batchelder, Craft, Nelson, Nore, Payne, Pedersen and Syas.

Absent or not voting were Lysinger and Moylan.

Higher Education Board Bill Altered

The Legislature Tuesday amended a bill creating a single board of higher education to permit Omaha University to join the board if it wants to.

The legislation was then given second-round voice vote approval. It will come up for a final vote later this month

It is a proposed constitutional amendment that would have the effect of abolishing the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and the State Normal Board, governing body of the colleges at Peru, Kearney, Wayne and Chadron.

The Nebraska Legislature Tuesday passed a statewide fair employment practices act but its chief sponsor said the bill will not halt job discrimination.

LB656 sailed through, 40-7, on a wave of labor-management support. It will take effect with the governor's signature.

Sen. Edward R. Danner of Omaha, the Unicameral's only Negro member and the introducer of the legislation, told reporters following the roll call vote the bill was "forced on me" and "I don't particularly endorse it."

Danner said it had been so watered down by amendment during its rocky legislative journey that management groups could use it as a vehicle to preclude federal intervention in job discrimination cases.

"I fear it will result in a delay in appealing cases to the federal courts. This is not what I wanted at all," he said.

Danner said he had intended to vote against the measure but changed his mind at the last second, mostly on "impulse."

"There definitely is discrimination in employment in Omaha and elsewhere. This bill will not stop it," he declared.

The legislation was recommended by the State Chamber of Commerce-Associated Industries of Nebraska as an alternative to a much tougher bill proposed originally by Danner. It was approved by the Labor Committee.

The measure, which is modeled after the federal Civil Rights Act, creates a seven-member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission appointed by the governor. Two management and two labor representatives would be included.

Danner said the commission composition represented a coalition between labor and management and probably would not resolve any job discrimination problems.

"This commission could become a delaying body and no more. I hope not but it could come to that. I hope it will be fair," he said.

The commission will conduct hearings and otherwise investigate labor discrimination complaints.

Failure to comply with an order of the commission could bring a 30-day jail sentence, $100 fine, or both. However, all orders may be appealed to the state district courts.

Ultimately, the act will apply to all employers with more than 25 workers. But through mid-1966 those with less than 100 will not be covered, through mid-1967 those with less than 75 will not be covered, and through mid-1968 those with less than 50 will not be covered.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, a co-sponsor, called the bill "significant to the betterment of the minority groups." He said Nebraska does not have a wide-spread job discrimination problem but that "it's good to have a law on the books as a reminder to empoyers."

Opposition votes to final passage of LB656 were cast by Sens. Batchelder, Craft, Nelson, Nore, Payne, Pedersen and Syas.

Absent or not voting were Lysinger and Moylan.

Higher Education Board Bill Altered

The Legislature Tuesday amended a bill creating a single board of higher education to permit Omaha University to join the board if it wants to.

The legislation was then given second-round voice vote approval. It will come up for a final vote later this month.

It is a proposed constitutional amendment that would have the effect of abolishing the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and the State Normal Board, governing body of the colleges at Peru, Kearney, Wayne and Chadron.

Junkyard Study Is Advocated

An interim study of problems involved in the location of junk yards along streets and highways was proposed in the Legislature Tuesday.

A bill to regulate such junk and salvage yards was recently rejected by the Legislature, and the study was advocated as an alternative.

The Legislative Council study would cover what steps are being taken in other states to meet the problem, and the effects of proposed federal legislation, and would be expected to result in recommendations for state legislation.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte introduced the resolution, No. 83, with Sens. Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Chester Paxton of Thedford, Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, Rudolf Kokes of Ord, Pat Moulton of Omaha and C. W. Holmquist of Oakland as co-sponsors. All are members of the Public Works Committee.

The resolution was referred to the executive board of the Legislative Council for recommendation.

A study has shown there are 234 junk yards and 37 dumps located on the 5,500 miles of Nebraska Interstate and primary highway system.

In other action on resolutions, lawmakers Tuesday adopted 39-0 a resolution, No. 81, from Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper, supporting an invitation to the National American Commission of the American Legion to hold its national high school oratorical contest in Nebraska in 1967, the centennial year. Specifically, the resolution invites the Legion to hold the contest finals in the legislative chamber.

Solons Refuse To Reconsider Full Crew Bill

The Legislature refused Tuesday to reconsider its action Monday in passing LB336, the bill repealing the full crew train law as it applies to freight trains.

Sen. Lester Harsh of Bartley said he had come to realize that the measure went further than it should, but his motion to reconsider failed 15-24.

Sen. Stanley Matzke of Milford objected to what he termed "this unprecedented attack on a bill already passed." He noted that the bill had been considered and debated long and intensively.

Sen. Orme To Fight Veto

Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme disclosed Tuesday she plans to attempt to override Gov. Frank Morrison's veto of the bill establishing the 96-year-old Kennard House at 1627 H St. in Lincoln as a statehood memorial.

The veto of LB609 was the first of the session for the governor.

Mrs. Orme said she will make her veto override Thursday, which would be July 29. It was on July 29, 1869 that the state capitol selection committee picked Lincoln as site of the new state's governmental seat. Historians credit the vote of Thomas P. Kennard as being the key vote in a 2-1 split in the committee.

It would take 30 votes to override the veto. LB609 received 37 favoring votes on final passage.

Mrs. Orme has estimated costs of implementing the bill at less than $60,000

Stromer Wants Another Study

Lincoln Sen. Marvin E. Stromer announced Tuesday he will propose another 18-month study of higher education in Nebraska.

Findings and recommendations would be made to the 1967 Legislature. The cost would be about $2,500.

Stromer reported his intentions at a meeting of the Legislature Council Executive Board, of which he is a member. He said the resolution calling for the survey will be submitted soon.

Appropriations Bill Faces Final Reading Friday

The Legislature's second major appropriations bill, which will provide operating funds for 52 state agencies for the 1965-67 biennium, will probably be enacted into law Friday.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings announced Tuesday that the bill will be scheduled for final reading on that date.

If the bill, LB922, were not to pass before August 1—Sunday—most state employes who work for the 52 agencies would not receive their July paychecks on time.

Passage of the measure is also required to pave the way for establishment of the property tax levy by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Bill Ending $200 Tax Exemption May Go Unsigned

A bill abolishing the $200 exemption on the value of household goods and personal effects for tax purposes appeared destined Tuesday to become law without the governor's signature.

The bill, LB850, was presented to the chief executive last Wednesday. He had until midnight Tuesday either to sign it, veto it or permit it to become law without his signature.

Gov. Frank Morrison's office confirmed that the governor did not sign the bill before he left Saturday for the governor's conference in Minneapolis. Nor were instructions left for Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen to sign the bill in Morrison's absence.

Morrison has permitted two previous bills to become law without his signature—LB797, the income tax bill, and LB515, regulating dissemination of obscene literature to juveniles.

Sen. Orme To Fight Veto

Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme disclosed Tuesday she plans to attempt to override Gov. Frank Morrison's veto of the bill establishing the 96-year-old Kennard House at 1627 H St. in Lincoln as a statehood memorial.

The veto of LB609 was the first of the session for the governor.

Mrs. Orme said she will make her veto override Thursday, which would be July 29. It was on July 29, 1869 that the state capitol selection committee picked Lincoln as site of the new state's governmental seat. Historians credit the vote of Thomas P. Kennard as being the key vote in a 2-1 split in the committee.

It would take 30 votes to override the veto. LB609 received 37 favoring votes on final passage.

Mrs. Orme has estimated costs of implementing the bill at less than $60,000.

Tax-Equalizing Session Scheduled For Friday

The State Board of Equalization will meet Friday in executive session on equalizing the tax assessment levels between Nebraska's 93 counties

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak, a board member, said a decision of the board would be announced publicly after the closed-door session.

The board has the legal duty to equalize county assessments before setting the state levy by Aug 2.

Dworak's office is compiling figures and information gathered at the seven days of hearings at which all 93 counties defended their assessment levels.

Last year, the board accepted the county abstract without change and Sen. Terry Carpenter unsuccessfully challenged its action in the Supreme Court.

The 1965 board is composed of Gov. Frank Morrison, State Treasurer Fred Sorensen, State Auditor Ray Johnson, Secretary of State Frank Marsh and Dworak.

Testimony at the hearings indicated no county is assessing property for tax purposes exactly at 35% of actual value as required by law.

And, county officials have urged no change or equalization of the counties largely depending upon the relative assessment level of their county.

Eleven Pass Embalming Examination

The State Board of Examiners in Embalming and Funeral Directing reported Tuesday that 11 men passed their examinations for embalming licenses and four passed their examinations for funeral director licenses.

New holders of funeral director licenses included Norman L. Christensen, Lincoln; Donald W. Kramer, St. Francis. Kan.; Jack L. Lavelle, Laurel, and Merlynn B. Sorenson, Osceola

Sorrenson and Lavelle also received embalming licenses. Others who passed the embalming examination included Dalo F. Dixon, Palisade; Donald G. Frank, Pender; Carlton A. Gordon, Norfolk; Larry J. Tillson, Columbus; David E. Wagner, Beatrice; Tom A. Wherry; Tecumseh; Paul A. Berger, Sioux City, Iowa; Robert E. Grace, Cheyenne, Wyo.; William J. Timmons, Omaha.

The emblaming examinations were given July 20-21 in Omaha, and the funeral director examinations were given Monday in Omaha.

Mental Health Plan Readied

The Nebraska Department of Health expects to finish within four months a state plan for mental health and mental retardation facilities.

Verne Pangborn, chief of the department's hospital division, said the blueprint is a prerequisite to the use of a sizable federal allocation for construction and equipment.

Pangborn said the state plan would be completed by October or November.

Funds Available

Upon its approval by the federal government, almost three-quarters of a million dollars in federal funds will probably be available for building and equipping mental health and retardation facilities

Pangborn said Nebraska's allocation for the fiscal year that ended June 30 was $100,000 for mental retardation facilities and an estimated $265,708 for mental health.

Although the funds weren't used, Pangborn said, they can be carried over for one fiscal year.

Good Guess

Congress hasn't yet approved allocations to the states for this fiscal year, but Pangborn said it's a "good guess that Congress will make available at least as much" as it did for the last fiscal period.

The federal money for the facilities must be matched locally, he said, but the percentage of local to federal funds will be established later by the State Board of Health.

Bids Will Be Opened Aug. 4 On Patrol Lights

Bids on 200 revolving red lights for Nebraska Safety Patrol cars will be opened Aug. 4, State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells said Tuesday.

Wells said the rotating light, using four 35,000 candle-power lamps, will emit 120 flashes per minute and is readily visible for one mile.

The equipment, replacing the two stationary red lights on patrol cars, is estimated at $30 per unit and authorized by the 1965 Legislature.

Union Pacific Service Cut Nets Protests

The State Railway Commission reported Tuesday it is being flooded by complaints concerning the Union Pacific Railroad's proposed reduction in less-than carload shipment service between states.

A commission spokesman estimated the complaints at "a couple hundred." He said they came from throughout the state.

The Union Pacific will stop moving shipments of less than 4,000 pounds between states on Aug. 1, the spokesman said.

He noted, however, that the state commission has no authority over interstate shipments.

He said the commission is returning the complaints to the senders and telling them that the federal Interstate Commerce Commission has sole jurisdiction over the railroad's service reduction between states.

To date, he said, the railroad has not applied to make similar service changes for shipments within the state.

Harsh Favors Public Utilities Taxation Study

Bartley Sen. Lester Harsh Tuesday introduced a resolution in the Legislature calling for an interim study of the methods of taxing public utilities.

Consideration of the resolution, No. 84, was deferred one day in accordance with legislative rules.

The resolution stated the study would concentrate on railroads, pipelines and telephone and telegraph companies.

In addition, the study would investigate methods of raising revenue by taxation for schools "so that the benefits would be apportioned to all the people of the state." Terminal taxes on railroads now are distributed on schools located in the depot area.

TIME never is a-wastin' in suburbia

What is a surprise? Well, it could be a vacation spot that looked different than you had visualized, it could be a clean, dust-free house that you did not expect after returning from a week's vacation—the one that those nice neighbors just couldn't help tidying up; or it could be some old friends that just happened to be passing through town and dropped in to say hello.

Well, we heard of just such an incident where old friends surprised a family in the Cotner Terrace area with a visit last weekend.

COTNER TERRACE

This surprise visit was made last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Karr who talked over old times for several hours with Mr. and Mrs. Duane Fox of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Fox then continued on to their vacation destination.

Top spot on the conversation agenda for Mrs. Donald McKinney and her Sunday guests was monopolized by reminiscing. An old school chum, Miss Ganene Rewerts of Hildreth, drove to see Mrs. McKinney and the two were joined for coffee by another of their Lincoln classmates, Mrs. Delbert Kraus.

But setting our Lincoln guest book aside for a moment or two, we will continue with the news and mention some vacationers from around the area. First on the list are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Larson who returned last weekend from a relaxing vacation at Big Pine Lake near Perham, Minn.

The second set of travelers include Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harral who headed Wisconsin-way for their week's holiday.

The travelers spent the majority of their time visiting at the home of Mr. Harral's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kiel of Trego, Wis. But the two also boast of their stops at the lakes surrounding Trego and at cheese factories. If you question their visits to cheese factories or shops, we might suggest that you stop in at the Harral home and feast your eyes on about two hundred different kinds of cheeses and sample them all if you like—or if you can.

There are two fairly new families in the Cotner Terrace area that we might make mention this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kunert and their two children, Julie and Scott, moved to the area in May after residing in Grand Island for some time. The families new address is 6520 Hartley.

Then there are Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe and their three children, Paul, Tom and Janet who moved to 6820 Fremont just one month ago. The former Omahans think Lincoln is a very nice city to live in and are anticipating a pleasant home life here.

SOUTH HILLS

A guest fivesome and a picnic for quite a number of people makes up this week's social news from around the South Hills area.

The news comes from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephens who tell us that their house guests for the past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. William Earl and their three children, David, Nancy and Eric of Detroit, Mich. The Friday-to-Monday visit included a Sunday picnic which was attended by several old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Earl. On hand for the outdoor affair which took place at Hickman Lake, in addition to the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beezley, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Read, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ives, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steade and the five couples' children.

WEDGEWOOD MANOR

There was a birthday party on Friday afternoon in Wedgewood. Mary Clifton celebrated her 10th birthday with cake and all of the trimmings — plus a trip to the movies.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shephard are having company this week. Mrs. Shephard's sister, Mrs. Neal Mark flew in from Des Moines, Iowa, and with her children, Kathy and Kim, will spend a week in Lincoln. Time will also be spent with Mrs. Mark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stoehr of Lincoln. Mr. Mark will join his family next week.

Travelers in the Wedgewood area have been Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carley and their daughters, Barbara and Diane. They have just returned from a trip that included the New England states, parts of Canada, and the New York World's Fair.

There is more moving news from Wedgewood. Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyers have moved from 7030 So. Wedgewood to 215 E. Vogel in Phoenix, Ariz. and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Loehr also have changed Wedgewood addresses. They are formerly of 7141 Wedgewood but are now residing at 1030 Driftwood. Other new residents on Driftwood are Mr. and Mrs. Russel Clark who have come from Hatboro, Pa., and whose address now is 1131 Driftwood.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of ten church members who have been meeting in each other's homes once a month for the past eight years. After lunch we spend the rest of the afternoon studying our religion. Two years ago a woman joined our group. She has never yet had the luncheon in her home and has tried many times to change our meetings from luncheons to just coffee and cookies. When I asked her when she could take the luncheon, she told me that it was impossible for her to entertain as her dog is very jealous and she has to give him tranquilizers whenever she has company. Kindly advise what you would do in a situation like this. Most of the ladies feel we should ask for her resignation, but no one will speak up. Since I am the president, I am . . .

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: If the majority of the women want a luncheon meeting, then it should remain a luncheon club. And if this woman wants to be a member, she should take her turn at having the luncheon. Otherwise, drop her and leave her free to sit and hold her dog's paw.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: After three daughters I finally had a little boy. My husband was wild with joy, but he's going overboard to make sure his son will be "all boy." He won't allow the baby to have a teddy bear or any stuffed toy to cuddle. (He says no son of HIS is going to play with dolls!) The boy is only eight months' old and his father roughhouses with him so fiercely that I'm afraid he'll hurt him. If my husband sees me "rock" or cuddle the baby, he has a fit. He reads your column right after the sports page, so maybe you can tell him he's wrong. I can't.

TRULY WORRIED

DEAR TRULY: All babies need to be rocked and cuddled. And they also need something THEY can cuddle in return. (This is how one learns to give and receive affection.) Your husband's roughness could cause the boy to turn to his mother for "protection." (This is what makes genuine "sissies.") Boys need tenderness from their fathers to teach them that "real men" can also be gentle, sensitive, and loving. A man who has been denied "love" from his father often grows up to be the type who asserts his "masculinity" by beating his wife and tyrannizing his children.

Bride-Elect Honored

We have a bride-elect to mention this morning, and she is Miss Rita Nelson who has chosen Saturday, Sept. 4, for her marriage to Kenton Hill.

On Saturday evening Miss Nelson was an honoree when Mrs. Jack Calfee, Mrs. Charles Squier and Mrs. Donald W. Parker were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Calfee's mother, Mrs. S. B. Lee.

Thirty-five guests, including old high school friends of the bride-elect and their mothers, were invited. The honoree was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

Art Shows

If you should inquire concerning the summer activity at the Sheldon Memorial Art Museum, you might be told that there was nothing exciting.

But, according to Norman Geske, director of the Sheldon Gallery, this isn't quite true. At the moment the Gallery is preparing for the "Photography, '64" show which will be open on Sunday afternoon—and the hours are 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock.

Mr. Geske also tells us that there is to be an interesting show at the Gallery beginning Sept. 7. It is the 23rd "Ceramic Annual" and it comes from the Everson Museum in Syracuse, N.Y. The show will continue until the end of September.

Another art show opens on Sunday, Aug. 1, also. It is the Lincoln Artist Guild's summer show, and it is to be held at the Cellar Gallery, 1434 O Street.

The hours are from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock and the Guild members will even give you a cup of coffee.

TALK around the town

There definitely is variety in the news this morning—new residents in Lincoln—guests arriving—and count the day lost that we don't have parties for the popular brides-elect.

* * *

We'll begin the day's labors with news of Dr. and Mrs. John T. McGreer, III and their three children, John IV, James and Julie Anne.

Dr. and Mrs. McGreer, III, and their family arrived in Lincoln on Sunday and are to become permanent residents. Dr. McGreer who, as 'Capt. McGreer' has just completed a tour of military duty with the Medical Corps, and his family came to Lincoln from El Paso, Tex. and their new address is 2656 Rathbone Rd.

* * *

Understand that it was something like 'old home week' for Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rankin when their daughter, Sara Elizaeth, and Allan Stadler were married in New York earlier this month.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Stebbins, Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart, Mrs. Richard Schmoker (Kit Stuart), of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. James Stuart, Jr.

* * *

One of those popular brides-elect we mentioned a moment ago is Miss Sandra Janike who has chosen Aug. 21, as the date of her marriage to Lynn Bonge of Washington, D.C.

Today Miss Janike will be complimented by Mrs. Ralph Ireland and Mrs. Kent Morgan who will be luncheon hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club. The guest list will include sorority sisters of the bride-elect and her hostesses—Pi Beta Phi.

* * *

On Sunday a bride-elect will pay courtesy to a bride-elect—and we're talking about the swim party, luncheon and kitchen shower for which Miss Sharon Hoppe will be hostess at her home when she honors Miss Cynthia Towne whose marriage to Samuel Beler will take place on Aug. 21.

* * *

But next week Miss Hoppe will be an honoree rather than a hostess.

On Wednesday evening, Aug. 4, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stein will pay courtesy to the soon-to-be bride when they entertain at dinner at their home. The guest list will include members of the family.

PARTIES

Complimenting Miss Karen Jean Galbreath, whose marriage to Don J. Mook, Jr., will take place on Aug. 6, Miss Diane Zank and Miss Sheila Schaffer will be hostesses at a Take-It-For Granted shower this evening.

And just in case you are curious concerning the take-it-for-granted theme we'll tell you that the gifts will include things that people take for granted you will get—and you never do.

Anyway, 21 guests have been invited.

And on Friday evening Mrs. Henry Roberts and Mrs. Floyd Pierce will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Galbreath when they entertain at a neighborhood party. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

COURTESY for bride-elect

Bride-to-be Miss Myrna Stienike was complimented on Monday evening when Miss Judi Neben, Miss Carolyn Dell and Miss Amy Sandberg were hostesses at a shower.

The party was given in the Lincoln General Hospital Nurses' Residence which gives a clue to the fact that the honoree and her hostesses are student nurses.

As a matter of fact Miss Stenike will be graduated from Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing in August, and her marriage to John L. Altman will take place on Sept. 12.

B, PW New President Elected

Lin Star soc Wed am July 28

Mrs. Helen Leslie of St. Petersburg, Fla., a lady boss in a man's business, is the new president of the 175,000-member National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Mrs. Leslie, who was elected Tuesday to a one-year term, says business and professional women have a key role to play in community services with their experience in home and business worlds.

She does it herself in her home city.

Friendly, active, with hazel eyes and reddish-brown hair turning gray, a plump 5-foot-4 figure and "no time to diet," Mrs. Leslie says "My greatest trouble is I have too many interests."

"Those club sandwiches," she sighed during an interview between convention sessions today, "now I know why they named them that."

Mrs. Lellie said she has no intention of giving up work now that she's head of one of the nation's biggest career women's groups. Besides, she said, it's a requirement that the BPW president "remain actively engaged in business.

She gets some time off, however, from the four mechanical contracting firms she and her brother, Otto Krauss Jr., run in St. Petersburg with 150 employes, most of them men.

The new BPW president wanted to be a pianist as a child, but her German-born father, Otto Krauss, who was in the sheet metal business, "wanted me to make my way in the world."

So she went to Auburn (AIA) college, where she studied business administration and majored in economics (one of three girls in a wartime class of 1943).

She said she really wanted to be an engineer, but her father warned, "you'll get married and waste all of your education."

"Of course, I fooled him," said Mrs. Leslie, who married her lumber executive husband, Wendell, about a year ago, "but I didn't get to be an engineer."

Instead she commuted to Tampa to take a night school course in income tax accounting, studied engineering and mechanical drawing after college, and even took charm, public speaking and logic courses.

She joined the BPW in 1943, right after school, later she headed BPW's national safety survey of road signs, signals and markings, calling attention to lack of uniformity along the nation's highways. She also helped organize a BPW branch in Puerto Rico and traveled in Latin America and Germany as its representative.

Being a good lady boss, says Mrs. Leslie, involves "being human — but not emotional."

Her advice for women in business is not to be afraid of competition and worry about what others are doing, but to "continuously work to expand your horizon — in education and understanding."

"There are no holds barred to women today," she says, "if they really mean it, but they can't be half-hearted and succeed."

Opening lead — five of clubs.

Good defense would be extremely difficult to attain were it not for the use of certain defensive conventions.

Many of these conventions —fourth-best plays, top-of-a-sequence plays, encouraging and discouraging signals, and so on — are taken for granted by the experienced bridge player, but let him try giving them up for a while and he would quickly discover how valuable these conventions are.

Good defense requires careful collaboration between the defenders, and it must also be precisely geared if the best result is to be achieved. By signaling their respective holdings in various suits, it becomes possible for one or both defenders to determine declarer's exact hand and thus obtain all the tricks they are entitled to.

For example, take this situation where South is in three notrump. West leads his fourth best club and East wins it with the king and returns the eight on which South plays the nine.

If West makes the mistake of winning the trick with the ten, South makes the contract. He loses a diamond and three clubs, period.

But if West ducks the nine of clubs, South is defeated. Whenever East gets in with a diamond, he returns a club and South loses four clubs and a diamond for a one-trick set.

Actually it is not difficult for West to find the right defense if he and his partner employ standard conventions.

East cannot have started with four clubs to the king or he would have returned his original fourth best club not the eight.

West can therefore reason that East started with either the K-8 or the K-8-x. In the former case, the contract becomes unbeatable, so West must assume that the latter is the case. Ducking the club thus becomes the right play.

The duck is not bound to defeat the contract unless East also has the king of diamonds, but West has no other hope.

COURTESY for bride-elect

Bride-to-be Miss Myrna Stienike was complimented on Monday evening when Miss Judi Neben, Miss Carolyn Dell and Miss Amy Sandberg were hostesses at a shower.

The party was given in the Lincoln General Hospital Nurses' Residence which gives a clue to the fact that the honoree and her hostesses are student nurses.

As a matter of fact Miss Stenike will be graduated from Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing in August, and her marriage to John L. Altman will take place on Sept. 12.

B, PW New President Elected

Lin Star soc Wed am July 28

Mrs. Helen Leslie of St. Petersburg, Fla., a lady boss in a man's business, is the new president of the 175,000-member National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Mrs. Leslie, who was elected Tuesday to a one-year term, says business and professional women have a key role to play in community services with their experience in home and business worlds.

She does it herself in her home city.

Friendly, active, with hazel eyes and reddish-brown hair turning gray, a plump 5-foot-4 figure and "no time to diet," Mrs. Leslie says "My greatest trouble is I have too many interests."

"Those club sandwiches," she sighed during an interview between convention sessions today, "now I know why they named them that."

Mrs. Lellie said she has no intention of giving up work now that she's head of one of the nation's biggest career women's groups. Besides, she said, it's a requirement that the BPW president "remain actively engaged in business.

She gets some time off, however, from the four mechanical contracting firms she and her brother, Otto Krauss Jr., run in St. Petersburg with 150 employes, most of them men.

The new BPW president wanted to be a pianist as a child, but her German-born father, Otto Krauss, who was in the sheet metal business, "wanted me to make my way in the world."

So she went to Auburn (AIA) college, where she studied business administration and majored in economics (one of three girls in a wartime class of 1943).

She said she really wanted to be an engineer, but her father warned, "you'll get married and waste all of your education."

"Of course, I fooled him," said Mrs. Leslie, who married her lumber executive husband, Wendell, about a year ago, "but I didn't get to be an engineer."

Instead she commuted to Tampa to take a night school course in income tax accounting, studied engineering and mechanical drawing after college, and even took charm, public speaking and logic courses.

She joined the BPW in 1943, right after school, later she headed BPW's national safety survey of road signs, signals and markings, calling attention to lack of uniformity along the nation's highways. She also helped organize a BPW branch in Puerto Rico and traveled in Latin America and Germany as its representative.

Being a good lady boss, says Mrs. Leslie, involves "being human — but not emotional."

Her advice for women in business is not to be afraid of competition and worry about what others are doing, but to "continuously work to expand your horizon — in education and understanding."

"There are no holds barred to women today," she says, "if they really mean it, but they can't be half-hearted and succeed."

Opening lead — five of clubs.

Good defense would be extremely difficult to attain were it not for the use of certain defensive conventions.

Many of these conventions —fourth-best plays, top-of-a-sequence plays, encouraging and discouraging signals, and so on — are taken for granted by the experienced bridge player, but let him try giving them up for a while and he would quickly discover how valuable these conventions are.

Good defense requires careful collaboration between the defenders, and it must also be precisely geared if the best result is to be achieved. By signaling their respective holdings in various suits, it becomes possible for one or both defenders to determine declarer's exact hand and thus obtain all the tricks they are entitled to.

For example, take this situation where South is in three notrump. West leads his fourth best club and East wins it with the king and returns the eight on which South plays the nine.

If West makes the mistake of winning the trick with the ten, South makes the contract. He loses a diamond and three clubs, period.

But if West ducks the nine of clubs, South is defeated. Whenever East gets in with a diamond, he returns a club and South loses four clubs and a diamond for a one-trick set.

Actually it is not difficult for West to find the right defense if he and his partner employ standard conventions.

East cannot have started with four clubs to the king or he would have returned his original fourth best club not the eight.

West can therefore reason that East started with either the K-8 or the K-8-x. In the former case, the contract becomes unbeatable, so West must assume that the latter is the case. Ducking the club thus becomes the right play.

The duck is not bound to defeat the contract unless East also has the king of diamonds, but West has no other hope.

Original cargo of Spanish galleons lost off Cape Kennedy in 1715 was valued at about 14 million pesos in silver. Part was salvaged soon after the disaster by freebooters, pirates and agents of Spain's King Philip V.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mt. Kennedy's neighbor, Mt. Hubbard (14,950 feet), was named for Gardiner Greene Hubbard, first president of the National Geographic Society.

The only public holiday in the United States that honors a king is Kamehameha Day, June 11, in Hawaii. The great Polynesian warrior united all the Hawaiian Islands in peace early in the 19th Century.

Life expectancy in Greece, Rome, Egypt and the Eastern Mediterranean region in the year A.D. 1 probably did not exceed 30 years. It is now about 70 in many of those countries.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Minnesota Likes Big Mick

When Minnesotans talk about sports figures, three people are mentioned prominently, Gene Budig, administrative assistant to Gov. Morrison, observes while attending the National Governor's Conference in Minneapolis this week.

"They talk about Harmon Killebrew, Mick Tingelhoff and Norm Van Brocklin," Budig pointed out in a phone conversation from Minneapolis Tuesday.

"As soon as people spot the Nebraska badge on your coat, they mention Tingelhoff," Budig notes. "They all refer to him up here as Big Mick." Tingelhoff is the former Husker footballer who has made it big as a center with the Minnesota Vikings.

Fortunately for Tingelhoff, one of his staunchest backers in Minnesota is the fellow who signs the pay checks, Vikings' president Max Winter.

Best Through Perseverance

Winter, who delivered a brief welcome Tuesday to the visiting governors and their assistants, spoke with Budig about Tingelhoff after the welcome.

"Tingelhoff is undoubtedly the best center in pro football," his happy boss pointed out. "And he got that way through perseverance.

"He came from obscurity to become the best center. When he reported to us, we thought of him as just another trainee who probably wouldn't last very long in our camp," the Vikings president recalled.

While he came from obscurity, Winter sees little chance of him fading from the spotlight for several years.

"He can be the best center in pro football for the next 10 years with his ability and desire," Winter told Budig. "He is just starting and he still hasn't reached his peak.

"We feel he could be one of the all-time great linemen in professional football before he is through."

Key To Possible Championship

The Vikings are being prominently mentioned as contenders for the division championship in the National Football League and Tingelhoff figures as one of the keys.

"Mick is one of the players we are really counting on when we talk in terms of winning the championship," Winter says, also noting that the Nebraskan is one of the smarter players in the league.

"He is the second most knowledgeable player on the field on our team," the president offers. "The only player in our lineup who knows more about our plays and all the various assignments than Mick is the quarterback."

Tingelhoff will be making his first playing appearance in Nebraska since his NU days when the Vikings meet the New York Giants Sept. 11 at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha.

Gerry's Wins Area Legion Crown, 12-1

. . . MOVES TO STATE MEET

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Gerry's breezed to its third straight Area Four American Legion Junior baseball title as it blasted Beatrice, 12-1, at Sherman Field Tuesday night.

It was the 11th straight win for Dave Myers' club and gave the team a berth in the state tourney opening at York Saturday. Gerry's will meet North Platte in the 2 p.m. contest which opens the Junior tourney.

Gerry's backed Mike Delaney's strong mound performance with a 12-hit attack that included a home run by Dennis Barber, a triple by Del Smith and a double and triple by Jan Hansen.

Delaney, who won his eighth game of the season, walked none and struck out 15 in earning his second tournament win over Beatrice.

Beatrice righthander Larry Carlson was backed by good defensive play at the outset as his mates pulled off double plays in the first and second innings, but errors gave Gerry's runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

Carlson, who lost a 4-3 decision to Delaney Saturday, made a pair of costly throwing errors in the third inning. Mike Bouman opened the inning with a bunt down the first base line and took second when Carlson's throw went into right field. Carlson then hit Delaney with a pitch.

John Graham then sacrificed and Carlson's throw sailed over second baseman Dean Eden into right field. Bouman and Delaney were both moving with the pitch and scored easily.

Hansen triple and Jack Galusha singled to start a three-run outburst in the fourth. Ken Meyer was safe on an error and Bouman drove in Galusha and Meyer with a single to left.

Hansen scored again in the fifth after doubling and moving to third on another single by Galusha. The 240-pound outfielder jolted the the ball loose from Beatrice catcher Marv Turner when he came in from third on a bad throw.

Gerry's sewed up the decision with a six-run rally in the eighth.

Galusha started it off with his fourth straight single and Meyer reached base on an error. Carlson then walked Bouman. Delaney, and Graham each singled and Smith tripled to shell Carlson.

Shortstop Dennis Barber greeted reliever Dale Jurgens with a wrong-field home run as he stroked an outside pitch over the right field barrier. It was his second homer of the tourney.

Beatrice registered its only tally in the fifth when Chapman tripled to left field and scored on Barber's error on the relay.

The win hiked Gerry's season record to 16-8.

KRAMER PLANS TO RETURN TO VIKINGS' CAMP

Bemidji, Minn. (AP) — Larry Kramer, the bonus lineman from Austin, Minn., and the University of Nebraska who quit the Minnesota Vikings last week, had a change of heart Tuesday and is expected to rejoin the National Football League team Wednesday.

Kramer called Vikings General Manager Jim Finks from Lincoln, Neb., Tuesday. He told Finks he felt he had made a mistake, and asked for permission to rejoin the Vikings. Finks granted permission.

The 6-feet-2, 245-pound guard-tackle was acquired by the Vikings from the Baltimore Colts in exchange for linebacker John Campbell last winter.

Fairgrounds Double Pays $13.40

. . . WOODTICK WINS FEATURED ELKS PURSE

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

The smallest daily double of the current racing meet, $13.40, was paid at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Tuesday.

The meager double was returned on Nahr Venture (No. 2) in the first race and Auntie Lottie (No. 6), ridden by leading jockey Fred Ecoffey, in the second.

Nahr Venture was slightly off the pace until he began to challenge in the backstretch and pulled away in the stretch for a 3½-length victory over place horse Honey Pic.

The latter threw her jockey, Kenneth Hare, in the starting gate and gave attendants a great deal of trouble in catching her. Hare was limping slightly after the fall but remounted to jockey a fine race.

Nahr Venture paid $6.20, $3.40 and $2.40; Honey Pic, the early leader, returned $5.00 and $3.20, with Abasar $2.60 to show.

In the second race, Auntie Lottie, the 6-5 favorite, took the lead from the gate and drew away from place horse Social Blessing in the stretch for a 2½-length win.

The winner returned $4.60, $3.40 and $2.60; Social Blessing paid $18.60 and $9.60; Sooner Flash returned $3.60 to show.

The $1,300 Elks Purse feature race was won by Woodtick with a tremendous drive in the stretch. Woodtick was never far off the pace until he went to the outside coming out of the turn and sprinted to the wire.

Say-Peanuts, the place horse, came from the pack in the turn and finished well—but still 2½-lengths behind the winner. Show horse Everett's Boy had the lead in the stretch but could not match the final pace.

Woodtick paid $16.00, $8.00 and $5.80; Say-Peanuts returned $5.60 and $3.60, with Everett's Boy $5.20 to show.

The largest payoff of the day was in the sixth race where Rose O'Mahmoud, a 11-1 shot, saved ground until making a bold drive in the turn and holding her lead in the stretch. She paid $24.40, $8.60 and $4.80.

Track attendance of 4,448 was up 158 persons over a year ago at this time, while mutuel handle was up $2,982 at $186,325.

Today's feature, the $3,000 added State Fair Breeder's Special, will be the richest race the Lincoln track has ever offered. Mr. Bookkeeper, Doc's Folly, Grace Good, Penny Doc, Herm's Boy, This Moment and World Herald will compete for the purse, totaling $4,630.

DODGERS PAD MARGIN

Wills Swipes 2 More Bases

. . . REDS LOSE, 9-7

By Associated Press

Jim Gilliam drove in four runs with a homer, double and single, and Maury Wills stole his 70th and 71st bases Tuesday night as the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers beat Cincinnati 9-7 and moved three games ahead of the second-place Reds.

The Dodgers made two errors, committed four wild pitches and a passed ball and made the Reds a gift of four runs. Three resulied from errors and another from a wild pitch.

But the Dodgers never were headed after they scored five runs in the second inning off loser Joey Jay, 8-3, to go in front 6-3. A walk to John Roseboro, an infield hit by Lou Johnson and Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice bunt set up Wes Parker's two-run single that tied it. Parker then stole second and scored on a single by Don Drysdale.

Wills singled and Gilliam followed with a two-run double, finishing Jay.

Gilliam hit a bases-empty homer in the first inning and drove in Wills with a single in the fifth. Wills had two singles for the night, extending his batting streak to 20 games, and gained his 23rd and 24th stolen bases this month.

The lowly Kansas City Athletics, who have occupied the American League cellar since the first week of the season, moved within a game of ninth place Boston by sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Red Sox 7-3 and 10-8.

Pitcher Fred Talbot, 9-6, and Wayne Causey drove in two runs apiece as the A's won the opener in spite of two homers by Boston's Tony Conigliaro. Bert Campaneris stroked four hits including an inside-the-park homer as Kansas City completed the sweep. Conigliaro tagged a grand slam homer in the second game.

Meanwhile, on the other end of the standings, first place Minnesota split a doubleheader with Washington and lost a half game of its lead to runner-up Baltimore which nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings. The Twins hold a four-game lead over the Orioles.

Washington's Mike Brumley hit his first two home runs of the season in consecutive swings as the Senators ran up a nine-run lead and hung on for a 10-7 first game victory over the Twins. Don Mincher's eighth inning homer with a mate aboard gave Minnesota the lead in the nightcap and the Twins went on to a 9-5 victory for the split.

Brooks Robinson's 10th inning single delivered Russ Snyder with the winning run as the Orioles nipped the Angels. Snyder had opened the 10th with a pinch double against reliever Dean Chance.

Tom Tresh's two-run homer gave Whitey Ford his 12th victory of the year as New York slipped by Detroit 4-3 in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader. The Tigers won the nightcap 3-0 with Joe Sparma beating the Yankees for the fourth time this season.

Pedro Gonzalez drove in three runs with a single and double as Cleveland whipped Chicago 7-3. Ralph Terry got the victory, his 10th against four losses.

In the National League, the surging Milwaukee Braves won their 12th game in the last 15, thumping Houston 7-1. Felipe Alou and Joe Torre each homeredd as Tony Cloninger hung up his 13th victory of the season with relief help from Billy O'Dell.

Ernie Banks drove in four runs with a bases loaded double and a sole homer as Chicago downed the New York Mets 6-3. Bob Buhl won his 11th game but needed relief help in the ninth when the Mets rallied for two runs.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh split a twi-night doubleheader with the Phillies taking the opener 3-1 and Pirates winning the nightcap 3-2 in 10 innings.

Gorges Scores Golf Ace

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A hole-in-one by Mike Gorges kept John Radican from turning the Lincoln Boys Junior City Golf Tournament into a one-man show Tuesday at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Radican, the first round leader with an 85 at the Lincoln Country Club Monday, shot a 79 Tuesday at Hillcrest and threatened to pull away from the rest of the field.

But Gorges, who was six strokes back with an opening 91 at LCC, used a hole-in-one to stay six back of the leader as action moves to Pioneers today for the third round.

The 15-year-old Gorges aced the 157-yard eighth hole when he hit a seven-iron about hole high to the right fringe and the ball rolled left into the hole.

The hole-in-one gave him a two-over-par 38 on the front side at Hillcrest, but he went five over on the second nine with a 41.

Radican, who had trouble with the par 5 holes during his opening round Monday at the Lincoln Country Club, continued to find them difficult at Hillcrest until the final hole Tuesday.

He double-bogeyed the first two par-5s at Hillcrest, but collected a birdie on the finishing 18th, a 443-yard par-5 for his 79.

Radican now leads with a 36-hole total of 164 while Gorges is his only challenger, six strokes back at 170. No one else is close.

Comets' Exhibition Contest Set Aug. 14

. . . FAIRBURY IS SITE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The Lincoln Comets, the Capital City's entry in the newly-formed Professional Football League of America, completed arrangements Tuesday for a pre-season exhibition game against the Kansas City Buffaloes.

The contest will be played Aug. 14 at Quinn Field in Fairbury, Comets' president Bob Van Dervoort said Tuesday. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The game against the all-Negro team from Kansas City will give head coach Don Erway a chance to see his team in action before opening the league season Aug. 28 at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium against the Omaha Mustangs.

Two recent additions to the Comets roster has bolstered the Lincoln outlook. Former Nebraska center Ron Michka joined the workouts Monday along with ex-NU quarterback Doug Tucker.

"Tucker makes a lot of difference in our offense," Erway noted after watching the squad work out this week. "Michka is also a big help in the center of our line."

The Comets also are awaiting the arrival of Sam Samples, former Hastings' standout who is attending summer school at Kearney.

The Lincoln semi-pro team currently is working out at the Pius X practice field but has been hampered somewhat by a lack of lights for night practice.

Erway says he has been encouraged by the running attack in early workouts.

"Our running has looked quite good," he notes, "but we still need some help at guard and tackle on offense." Halfbacks Hurricane McCane, who played with the Husker frosh last season, and Rod Franz of Sioux City, Iowa, who played at State College of Iowa, have been impressive while lugging the ball in early contact sessions.

Roberts Placed On Waiver List

Baltimore (AP) — Veteran pitcher Robin Roberts, No. 18 among all-time major league baseball winners, was placed on waivers by the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday at his own request.

The move, designed to give Roberts his unconditional release, was taken after the 38-year-old right-hander expressed dissatisfaction at being used as a spot starter and long reliever.

Minnesota Likes Big Mick

When Minnesotans talk about sports figures, three people are mentioned prominently, Gene Budig, administrative assistant to Gov. Morrison, observes while attending the National Governor's Conference in Minneapolis this week.

"They talk about Harmon Killebrew, Mick Tingelhoff and Norm Van Brocklin," Budig pointed out in a phone conversation from Minneapolis Tuesday.

"As soon as people spot the Nebraska badge on your coat, they mention Tingelhoff," Budig notes. "They all refer to him up here as Big Mick." Tingelhoff is the former Husker footballer who has made it big as a center with the Minnesota Vikings.

Fortunately for Tingelhoff, one of his staunchest backers in Minnesota is the fellow who signs the pay checks, Vikings' president Max Winter.

Best Through Perseverance

Winter, who delivered a brief welcome Tuesday to the visiting governors and their assistants, spoke with Budig about Tingelhoff after the welcome.

"Tingelhoff is undoubtedly the best center in pro football," his happy boss pointed out. "And he got that way through perseverance.

"He came from obscurity to become the best center. When he reported to us, we thought of him as just another trainee who probably wouldn't last very long in our camp," the Vikings president recalled.

While he came from obscurity, Winter sees little chance of him fading from the spotlight for several years.

"He can be the best center in pro football for the next 10 years with his ability and desire," Winter told Budig. "He is just starting and he still hasn't reached his peak.

"We feel he could be one of the all-time great linemen in professional football before he is through."

Key To Possible Championship

The Vikings are being prominently mentioned as contenders for the division championship in the National Football League and Tingelhoff figures as one of the keys.

"Mick is one of the players we are really counting on when we talk in terms of winning the championship," Winter says, also noting that the Nebraskan is one of the smarter players in the league.

"He is the second most knowledgeable player on the field on our team," the president offers. "The only player in our lineup who knows more about our plays and all the various assignments than Mick is the quarterback."

Tingelhoff will be making his first playing appearance in Nebraska since his NU days when the Vikings meet the New York Giants Sept. 11 at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha.

Gerry's Wins Area Legion Crown, 12-1

. . . MOVES TO STATE MEET

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Gerry's breezed to its third straight Area Four American Legion Junior baseball title as it blasted Beatrice, 12-1, at Sherman Field Tuesday night.

It was the 11th straight win for Dave Myers' club and gave the team a berth in the state tourney opening at York Saturday. Gerry's will meet North Platte in the 2 p.m. contest which opens the Junior tourney.

Gerry's backed Mike Delaney's strong mound performance with a 12-hit attack that included a home run by Dennis Barber, a triple by Del Smith and a double and triple by Jan Hansen.

Delaney, who won his eighth game of the season, walked none and struck out 15 in earning his second tournament win over Beatrice.

Beatrice righthander Larry Carlson was backed by good defensive play at the outset as his mates pulled off double plays in the first and second innings, but errors gave Gerry's runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

Carlson, who lost a 4-3 decision to Delaney Saturday, made a pair of costly throwing errors in the third inning. Mike Bouman opened the inning with a bunt down the first base line and took second when Carlson's throw went into right field. Carlson then hit Delaney with a pitch.

John Graham then sacrificed and Carlson's throw sailed over second baseman Dean Eden into right field. Bouman and Delaney were both moving with the pitch and scored easily.

Hansen triple and Jack Galusha singled to start a three-run outburst in the fourth. Ken Meyer was safe on an error and Bouman drove in Galusha and Meyer with a single to left.

Hansen scored again in the fifth after doubling and moving to third on another single by Galusha. The 240-pound outfielder jolted the the ball loose from Beatrice catcher Marv Turner when he came in from third on a bad throw.

Gerry's sewed up the decision with a six-run rally in the eighth.

Galusha started it off with his fourth straight single and Meyer reached base on an error. Carlson then walked Bouman. Delaney, and Graham each singled and Smith tripled to shell Carlson.

Shortstop Dennis Barber greeted reliever Dale Jurgens with a wrong-field home run as he stroked an outside pitch over the right field barrier. It was his second homer of the tourney.

Beatrice registered its only tally in the fifth when Chapman tripled to left field and scored on Barber's error on the relay.

The win hiked Gerry's season record to 16-8.

KRAMER PLANS TO RETURN TO VIKINGS' CAMP

Bemidji, Minn. (AP) — Larry Kramer, the bonus lineman from Austin, Minn., and the University of Nebraska who quit the Minnesota Vikings last week, had a change of heart Tuesday and is expected to rejoin the National Football League team Wednesday.

Kramer called Vikings General Manager Jim Finks from Lincoln, Neb., Tuesday. He told Finks he felt he had made a mistake, and asked for permission to rejoin the Vikings. Finks granted permission.

The 6-feet-2, 245-pound guard-tackle was acquired by the Vikings from the Baltimore Colts in exchange for linebacker John Campbell last winter.

Fairgrounds Double Pays $13.40

. . . WOODTICK WINS FEATURED ELKS PURSE

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

The smallest daily double of the current racing meet, $13.40, was paid at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Tuesday.

The meager double was returned on Nahr Venture (No. 2) in the first race and Auntie Lottie (No. 6), ridden by leading jockey Fred Ecoffey, in the second.

Nahr Venture was slightly off the pace until he began to challenge in the backstretch and pulled away in the stretch for a 3½-length victory over place horse Honey Pic.

The latter threw her jockey, Kenneth Hare, in the starting gate and gave attendants a great deal of trouble in catching her. Hare was limping slightly after the fall but remounted to jockey a fine race.

Nahr Venture paid $6.20, $3.40 and $2.40; Honey Pic, the early leader, returned $5.00 and $3.20, with Abasar $2.60 to show.

In the second race, Auntie Lottie, the 6-5 favorite, took the lead from the gate and drew away from place horse Social Blessing in the stretch for a 2½-length win.

The winner returned $4.60, $3.40 and $2.60; Social Blessing paid $18.60 and $9.60; Sooner Flash returned $3.60 to show.

The $1,300 Elks Purse feature race was won by Woodtick with a tremendous drive in the stretch. Woodtick was never far off the pace until he went to the outside coming out of the turn and sprinted to the wire.

Say-Peanuts, the place horse, came from the pack in the turn and finished well—but still 2¼-lengths behind the winner. Show horse Everett's Boy had the lead in the stretch but could not match the final pace.

Woodtick paid $16.00, $8.00 and $5.80; Say-Peanuts returned $5.60 and $3.60, with Everett's Boy $5.20 to show.

The largest payoff of the day was in the sixth race where Rose O'Mahmoud, a 11-1 shot, saved ground until making a bold drive in the turn and holding her lead in the stretch. She paid $24.40, $8.60 and $4.80.

Track attendance of 4,448 was up 158 persons over a year ago at this time, while mutuel handle was up $2,982 at $186,325.

Today's feature, the $3,000 added State Fair Breeder's Special, will be the richest race the Lincoln track has ever offered. Mr. Bookkeeper, Doc's Folly, Grace Good, Penny Doc, Herm's Boy, This Moment and World Herald will compete for the purse, totaling $4,630.

DODGERS PAD MARGIN

Wills Swipes 2 More Bases

. . . REDS LOSE, 9-7

By Associated Press

Jim Gilliam drove in four runs with a homer, double and single, and Maury Wills stole his 70th and 71st bases Tuesday night as the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers beat Cincinnati 9-7 and moved three games ahead of the second-place Reds.

The Dodgers made two errors, committed four wild pitches and a passed ball and made the Reds a gift of four runs. Three resulted from errors and another from a wild pitch.

But the Dodgers never were headed after they scored five runs in the second inning off loser Joey Jay, 8-3, to go in front 6-3. A walk to John Roseboro, an infield hit by Lou Johnson and Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice bunt set up Wes Parker's two-run single that tied it. Parker then stole second and scored on a single by Don Drysdale.

Wills singled and Gilliam followed with a two-run double, finishing Jay.

Gilliam hit a bases-empty homer in the first inning and drove in Wills with a single in the fifth. Wills had two singles for the night, extending his batting streak to 20 games, and gained his 23rd and 24th stolen bases this month.

The lowly Kansas City Athletics, who have occupied the American League cellar since the first week of the season, moved within a game of ninth place Boston by sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Red Sox 7-3 and 10-8.

Pitcher Fred Talbot, 9-6, and Wayne Causey drove in two runs apiece as the A's won the opener in spite of two homers by Boston's Tony Conigliaro. Bert Campaneris stroked four hits including an inside-the-park homer as Kansas City completed the sweep. Conigliaro tagged a grand slam homer in the second game.

Meanwhile, on the other end of the standings, first place Minnesota split a doubleheader with Washington and lost a half game of its lead to runner-up Baltimore which nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings. The Twins hold a four-game lead over the Orioles.

Washington's Mike Brumley hit his first two home runs of the season in consecutive swings as the Senators ran up a nine-run lead and hung on for a 10-7 first game victory over the Twins. Don Mincher's eighth inning homer with a mate aboard gave Minnesota the lead in the nightcap and the Twins went on to a 9-5 victory for the split.

Brooks Robinson's 10th inning single delivered Russ Snyder with the winning run as the Orioles nipped the Angels. Snyder had opened the 10th with a pinch double against reliever Dean Chance.

Tom Tresh's two-run homer gave Whitey Ford his 12th victory of the year as New York slipped by Detroit 4-3 in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader. The Tigers won the nightcap 3-0 with Joe Sparma beating the Yankees for the fourth time this season.

Pedro Gonzalez drove in three runs with a single and double as Cleveland whipped Chicago 7-3. Ralph Terry got the victory, his 10th against four losses.

In the National League, the surging Milwaukee Braves won their 12th game in the last 15, thumping Houston 7-1. Felipe Alou and Joe Torre each homeredd as Tony Cloninger hung up his 13th victory of the season with relief help from Billy O'Dell.

Ernie Banks drove in four runs with a bases loaded double and a sole homer as Chicago downed the New York Mets 6-3. Bob Buhl won his 11th game but needed relief help in the ninth when the Mets rallied for two runs.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh split a twi-night doublehealder with the Phillies taking the opener 3-1 and Pirates winning the nightcap 3-2 in 10 innings.

Gorges Scores Golf Ace

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A hole-in-one by Mike Gorges kept John Radican from turning the Lincoln Boys Junior City Golf Tournament into a one-man show Tuesday at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Radican, the first round leader with an 85 at the Lincoln Country Club Monday, shot a 79 Tuesday at Hillcrest and threatened to pull away from the rest of the field.

But Gorges, who was six strokes back with an opening 91 at LCC, used a hole-in-one to stay six back of the leader as action moves to Pioneers today for the third round.

The 15-year-old Gorges aced the 157-yard eighth hole when he hit a seven-iron about hole high to the right fringe and the ball rolled left into the hole.

The hole-in-one gave him a two-over-par 38 on the front side at Hillcrest, but he went five over on the second nine with a 41.

Radican, who had trouble with the par 5 holes during his opening round Monday at the Lincoln Country Club, continued to find them difficult at Hillcrest until the final hole Tuesday.

He double-bogeyed the first two par-5s at Hillcrest, but collected a birdie on the finishing 18th, a 443-yard par-5 for his 79.

Comets' Exhibition Contest Set Aug. 14

. . . FAIRBURY IS SITE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The Lincoln Comets, the Capital City's entry in the newly-formed Professional Football League of America, completed arrangements Tuesday for a pre-season exhibition game against the Kansas City Buffaloes.

The contest will be played Aug. 14 at Quinn Field in Fairbury, Comets' president Bob Van Dervoort said Tuesday. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The game against the all-Negro team from Kansas City will give head coach Don Erway a chance to see his team in action before opening the league season Aug. 28 at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium against the Omaha Mustangs.

Two recent additions to the Comets roster has bolstered the Lincoln outlook. Former Nebraska center Ron Michka joined the workouts Monday along with ex-NU quarterback Doug Tucker.

"Tucker makes a lot of difference in our offense," Erway noted after watching the squad work out this week. "Michka is also a big help in the center of our line."

The Comets also are awaiting the arrival of Sam Samples, former Hastings' standout who is attending summer school at Kearney.

The Lincoln semi-pro team currently is working out at the Pius X practice field but has been hampered somewhat by a lack of lights for night practice.

Erway says he has been encouraged by the running attack in early workouts.

"Our running has looked quite good," he notes, "but we still need some help at guard and tackle on offense." Halfbacks Hurricane McCane, who played with the Husker frosh last season, and Rod Franz of Sioux City, Iowa, who played at State College of Iowa, have been impressive while lugging the ball in early contact sessions.

Roberts Placed On Waiver List

Baltimore (AP) — Veteran pitcher Robin Roberts, No. 16 among all-time major league baseball winners, was placed on waivers by the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday at his own request.

The move, designed to give Roberts his unconditional release, was taken after the 38-year-old right-hander expressed dissatisfaction at being used as a spot starter and long reliever.

Roberts Midgets Win Title

Timely blows by Tom Hayes and Seve Moser and an effective relief job by Dave McEwen paced Roberts as it earned the Area Four Midget baseball title with a 4-1 win over Gerry's Tuesday.

Hayes doubled in Ron Nelson, who had tripled, and Harold Connick, who had walked, with two out in the third inning.

Moser singled home Hayes in the sixth inning. The Roberts club, now 9-11 for the season, added its fourth run on a wild pitch in the seventh inning.

McEwen came on in relief of southpaw Leland Sasse in the fourth inning with two on and none out. He retired the side, then limited Gerry's to just one run in getting credit for the victory.

Roberts will meet the winer of today's Grand Island-Hastings contest in the opening round of state tourney at York Saturday. The 11:30 a.m. game is the first of four scheduled Saturday.

Roberts Midgets Win Title

Timely blows by Tom Hayes and Seve Moser and an effective relief job by Dave McEwen paced Roberts as it earned the Area Four Midget baseball title with a 4-1 win over Gerry's Tuesday.

Hayes doubled in Ron Nelson, who had tripled, and Harold Connick, who had walked, with two out in the third inning.

Moser singled home Hayes in the sixth inning. The Roberts club, now 9-11 for the season, added its fourth run on a wild pitch in the seventh inning.

McEwen came on in relief of southpaw Leland Sasse in the fourth inning with two on and none out. He retired the side, then limited Gerry's to just one run in getting credit for the victory.

Roberts will meet the winner of today's Grand Island-Hastings contest in the opening round of state tourney at York Saturday. The 11:30 a.m. game is the first of four scheduled Saturday.

Johnson Appeals For 17-Nation Meet Agreement On Nuclear Weapons Ban

Geneva (UPI) — President Johnson appealed in a message to the 17-nation disarmament conference to reach agreement on restricting nuclear weapons because "hell alone can describe the consequences that await their full use."

He introduced a three-point plan to limit the production, spread, and testing of nuclear arms.

But Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin opened the conference with a charge that progress on arms agreements is blocked by Western preparations "for a big war."

Both Johnson and Tsarapkin made apparent references to the war in Viet Nam, which diplomats fear will block any East-West agreement here.

The Soviet negotiator charged that Western "aggression" in Viet Nam, The Congo, and Latin America have caused "extremely difficult conditions" for the disarmament talks.

Johnson apparently referred to Viet Nam when he said in the statement that "no difference among any of us, on any other issue, can be allowed to bar agreement in this critical area."

Johnson's appeal was read to the conference in its 45-minute opening session after a 10-month recess.

The President's three-point program included:

—"First, to seek agreements that will limit the perilous spread of nuclear weapons, and make it possible for all countries to refrain without fear from entering the nuclear arms race.

—"Second, to work toward the effective limitation of nuclear weapons and nuclear delivery systems, so that we can diminish present danger as well as prevent expanding peril.

—"Third, to work for a truly comprehensive test-ban treaty."

There were hopes for agreement on at least some disarmament issues when the Soviets suddenly agreed to resume the Geneva talks earlier this month.

Bauer Amendment Attempt Triggers Brief Tax Dispute

A brief battle over the income tax act broke out on the floor of the Legislature Tuesday.

Triggering the controversy was a motion by Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the tax act, to amend the property tax repealer bill, LB562.

Bauer successfully attached an amendment to provide the property tax would only be repealed when the income tax becomes operative, which will be Jan. 1, 1967, unless rejected at the polls. He said it was necessary just in case the income tax was turned down.

But Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver, a staunch opponent of the income tax, charged Bauer was attempting to "intimidate the taxpayers" by his amendment.

He said the Duis Amendment to the State Constitution would allow a property tax to continue if the income tax was rejected by taxpayers next year.

The Duis Amendment provides that when the state adopts an income or sales tax it can no longer levy a property tax.

Smoking Warning Is Law

Washington (UPI) President Johnson—a non-smoker—Tuesday signed into law a bill requiring every package of cigarettes to be labelled with a health warning after January 1.

He rejected urgings that he veto the legislation because it did not also require a similar cautionary warning in all cigarette advertising.

The label will read: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The legislation stemmed from the report of the U.S. Surgeon General two years ago linking cigarette smoking to some forms of cancer and other serious ailments.

A group of congressmen led by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., had advocated a presidential veto of the measure because it did not go far enough in pointing out the dangers of smoking to the public.

But the White House said the legislation's benefits were greater than the deficiencies claimed by the critics.

Four New Bills Are Introduced By Revenue Unit

The Legislature accepted four new bills for introduction Tuesday, raising the session total to 932 and prompting suggestions that the session may run into September.

There had been a feeling in legislative circles that the session might end by mid-August.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter supported introduction of the new bills and scolded colleagues, for preoccupation with early adjournment. "Anyone who thinks we are going to get out of here by Aug. 15 is living in a fool's paradise," he said.

But Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver noted that the session already has set a record for length and "the people are holding their heads and saying, 'please go home.'"

The four bills all came from the Revenue Committee. They include:

LB929—Prohibiting the sale of seeds containing noxious weeds and providing $25 fees for licensing of seed sellers. (Introduced 36-2).

LB930—Providing for refunds of intangible property tax penalties assessed under an invalid law. (Introduced 31-0).

LB931—Writing new tax penalty legislation and consolidating present penalty sections in view of the Supreme Court holding 1961 penalty legislation to be invalid (Introduced 31-1).

LB932—Providing for a method of determining net taxable income of cooperatives under the state income tax law. (Introduced 31-2).

Lawmakers consented to placement of the bills on general file without a public hearing.

Smoking Warning Is Law

Washington (UPI) President Johnson—a non-smoker—Tuesday signed into law a bill requiring every package of cigarettes to be labelled with a health warning after January 1.

He rejected urgings that he veto the legislation because it did not also require a similar cautionary warning in all cigarette advertising.

The label will read: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The legislation stemmed from the report of the U.S. Surgeon General two years ago linking cigarette smoking to some forms of cancer and other serious ailments.

A group of congressmen led by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., had advocated a presidential veto of the measure because it did not go far enough in pointing out the dangers of smoking to the public.

But the White House said the legislation's benefits were greater than the deficiencies claimed by the critics.

Four New Bills Are Introduced By Revenue Unit

The Legislature accepted four new bills for introduction Tuesday, raising the session total to 932 and prompting suggestions that the session may run into September.

There had been a feeling in legislative circles that the session might end by mid-August.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter supported introduction of the new bills and scolded colleagues for preoccupation with early adjournment. "Anyone who thinks we are going to get out of here by Aug. 15 is living in a fool's paradise," he said.

But Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver noted that the session already has set a record for length and "the people are holding their heads and saying, 'please go home.'"

The four bills all came from the Revenue Committee. Thcy include:

LB929—Prohibiting the sale of seeds containing noxious weeds and providing $25 fees for licensing of seed sellers. (Introduced 36-2).

LB930—Providing for refunds of intangible property tax penalties assessed under an invalid law. (Introduced 31-0).

LB931—Writing new tax penalty legislation and consolidating present penalty sections in view of the Supreme Court holding 1961 penalty legislation to be invalid. (Introduced 31-1).

LB932—Providing for a method of determining net taxable income of cooperatives under the state income tax law. (Introduced 31-2).

Lawmakers consented to placement of the bills on general file without a public hearing.

Prices Dip In Uneasy Stock Mart

New York (AP) — An uneasy stock market erased a small early gain and took an irregular loss Tuesday as hesitation resumed about the U.S. stance toward Viet Nam.

Volume rose to 4.27 million shares from Monday's 3.77 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which showed a gain of 1.59 in early trading, ended with a net loss of 3.73 at 863.53.

The day was marked by sharp profit taking in many of the aerospace and electronic defense stocks. They have been strong recently on expectations that military spending would be increased as a result of the high level huddle on Viet Nam.

The retreat from the early gains followed soon after nervousness developed on news that U.S. planes had bombed missile sites in North Viet Nam.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .7 to 318.6 with industrials down 2.3, rails up 1.2 and utilities off .8.

Of 1,227 issues traded, 620 fell and 459 rose. New highs for the year totaled 20 and new lows 52.

General Dynamics, off 1½ at 41, became most active stock on turnover of 180,500 shares.

AVCO, which makes helicopter engines and other items of use in the Viet Nam conflict, rose ⅞ to 22⅞ on 121,700 shares.

Fairchild Camera lost 1, Raytheon ⅛, Boeing 1⅛, Grumman ¼, United Aircraft 1¼ and Douglas Aircraft ex dividend ⅛.

McKsson & Robbins was the biggest lower on the most-active list, falling 3 to 40 2-3.

General Motors was up ¼ in advance of news after the close of new highs in sales and earnings. U.S. Steel reported higher earnings and was off ¼ in advance of the news, which also came after the final bell.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.12 million shares compared with 930,000 Monday. Goldfield was active and up ¼ at 1⅞. Syntex lost 1½ and Philips Electronics 1.

Corporate and U.S. treasury bonds were slightly lower.

Wheat, Soybean Prices Advance

Chicago (AP) The grain futures market mustered a moderate rally in wheat and new crop soybeans Tuesday in late trading but other grains lagged and finished slightly easier.

The demand for new crop soybeans was brisk and materialized quickly following a report that U.S. bombing planes had struck in force at antiaircraft missile bases in North Viet Nam.

Most deliveries closed with net gains of about 2 cents a bushel or around 4 cents above the lows of the day.

Generally, analysts said, traders appeared to have felt most commodities are likely to attract an improved public demand if the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam should require a considerably expanded commitment of ground troops and heavy fighting on the scale experienced in South Korea.

Soybeans closed ½ cent a bushel lower to 2½ higher, August $2.80½-80; wheat ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, September $1.47¼-[illegible]; corn [illegible] lower, September $1.25⅝-[illegible]; oats [illegible] lower, September [illegible]; rye [illegible] lower, September $1.18½.

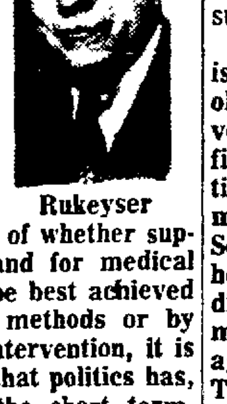
EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Medicare Bill Is Monument To Fantasy, Wishful Thinking

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The imminent adoption of the Medicare bill is a monument to fantasy and wishful thinking.



Rukeyser

Prior to such government action in behalf of those over 65 in respect to demand for hospital facilities, there had already been a shortage of rooms, equipment, nurses and various aides.

Irrespective of whether supply and demand for medical services can be best achieved by voluntary methods or by government intervention, it is crystal clear that politics has, at least for the short term, enormously intensified already existing shortages.

Although proponents argued that federal action was being limited, the fact is that the imbalance between supply and demand will, as a next step, lead to a clamor for federal subsidies for medical schools, for hospital buildings, for nursing homes and for the whole network of medical care.

If the realities of assembly-line, government medicine in Europe are to be repeated here, the current high expectations are likely to lead to disappointment.

Hurt Own Cause

In face of the threat of governmental regimentation, the voluntary institutions have unwittingly hurt their own cause by not stressing sufficient kindness and individual attention to patrons. If people are to be pushed around, they become resentful and are ready for short-cuts, such as governmental subsidies.

In all governmental social schemes, the normal expectation is a sky-rocketing of costs. The bill for Social Security will reach a new peak next year—far above the minimum payroll levies of the initial period back in 1937. Not only have the tax rates been ballooned, but there have been successive increments in the salary ceilings at which such payroll taxes stop.

The Social Security Administration has sensibly warned older persons not to cancel voluntary insurance. In the first place, there will be a time gap before the government system goes into effect. Secondly, without analytical help, the insured should be discriminating in giving up more liberal voluntary coverage by insurance companies. The expectancy is that the insurance companies will work out new patterns to supplement the federal scheme.

In face of governmental competition, a few insurance companies and several pools of companies have worked out in recent years contracts for those over 65. Proper coverage is expensive. Sometimes there was ballyhoo which made the outer insurance package seem more alluring than the fine print inside. Contracts should be written with high conscience and, in the words of the head of the Property Division of the New York State Insurance Department, the terms should be underwritten before the sale and not later when claims are made.

Great Burdens

At present, the insurance companies are putting great burdens on policyholders in the filling out of claims. When settlements are made, there should be a clearer accounting by the carrier of precisely what the nature of the coverage was. I have observed that the current practice leaves something to be desired. While it is desirable to keep costs down, this should not be carried to the extreme of interferring with communications between the company and the insured.

The contemplated new payroll tax schedule will run the rate up to 8.4% next year and to 11.3% by 1987. In addition, there will be supplementary charges on general tax revenues and also premium payments by the insured.

The rise in payroll taxes has an important bearing on general fiscal policy. There has been much demagoguery in the tax discussions. The customary line for politicians these days is to favor steeply graduated income taxes on the theory that they "soak the rich" and hostility to transactions imposts, excise taxes and all varieties of sales taxes on the ground they are regressive and "soak the poor."

The truth is that the bulk of the national income goes to workers and others among the upwards of 70 million gainfully employed persons and that in the nature of things most of the revenue must come from the low and moderate income brackets.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inuiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Heroism Promotion Okayed For Dailey

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Personnel Board voted 3-2 Tuesday to promote Patrolman Aaron Dailey to sergeant under the city's new heroism ordinance. The action is subject to City Council approval.

The much-decorated patrolman has never been able to pass the written test for sergeant but has been doing a sergeant's work for several years. Police and fire unions objected to the promotion.

Campaign Materials Bill Raised

A bill prohibiting anonymous political campaign literature was resurrected by the State Legislature Tuesday. The vote was 30-11, five more than was needed.

LB915 had been killed last week by the Government and Military Affairs Committee.

The bill requires all campaign literature to contain the name and street address of the person or committee requesting the printing. This would apply to handbills, pamphlets, advertisements, circulars, postcards, photographs, placards or letters in all elections.

The legislation was drafted by Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett, and backed by Governor Morrison and the State Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. asked it be revived. He said it was needed for the protection of political candidates against smear tactics.

Pedersen said he would offer amendments to exempt bumper and wind stickers, yard signs and cards carrying factual material about candidates.

Voting against reviving the bill were Sens. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk, Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, Albert Kjar of Lexington, Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha, Frank Nelson of O'Neill, Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, Dale L. Payne of Papillion and William Wylie of Elgin.

Prices Dip In Uneasy Stock Mart

New York (AP) — An uneasy stock market erased a small early gain and took an irregular loss Tuesday as hesitation resumed about the U.S. stance toward Viet Nam.

Volume rose to 4.27 million shares from Monday's 3.77 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which showed a gain of 1.59 in early trading, ended with a net loss of 3.73 at 863.53.

The day was marked by sharp profit taking in many of the aerospace and electronic defense stocks. They have been strong recently on expectations that military spending would be increased as a result of the high level huddle on Viet Nam.

The retreat from the early gains followed soon after nervousness developed on news that U.S. planes had bombed missile sites in North Viet Nam.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .7 to 318.6 with industrials down 2.3, rails up 1.2 and utilities off .8.

Of 1,327 issues traded, 620 fell and 459 rose. New highs for the year totaled 20 and new lows 52.

General Dynamics, off 1½ at 41, became most active stock on turnover of 180,500 shares.

AVCO, which makes helicopter engines and other items of use in the Viet Nam conflict, rose ⅞ to 22⅞ on 121,700 shares.

Fairchild Camera lost 1, Raytheon ⅛, Boeing 1⅛, Grumman ¼, United Aircraft 1¼ and Douglas Aircraft ex dividend ⅛.

McKesson & Robbins was the biggest lower on the most-active list, falling 3 to 40 2-3.

General Motors was up ¼ in advance of news after the close of new highs in sales and earnings. U.S. Steel reported higher earnings and was off ¼ in advance of the news, which also came after the final bell.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.12 million shares compared with 930,000 Monday. Goldfield was active and up ¼ at 1⅞. Syntex lost 1½ and Philips Electronics 1.

Corporate and U.S. treasury bonds were slightly lower.

Wheat, Soybean Prices Advance

Chicago (AP) The grain futures market mustered a moderate rally in wheat and new crop soybeans Tuesday in late trading but other grains lagged and finished slightly easier.

The demand for new crop soybeans was brisk and materialized quickly following a report that U.S. bombing planes had struck in force at antiaircraft missile bases in North Viet Nam.

Most deliveries closed with net gains of about 2 cents a bushel or around 4 cents above the lows of the day.

Generally, analysts said, traders appeared to have felt most commodities are likely to attract an improved public demand if the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam should require a considerably expanded commitment of ground troops and heavy fighting on the scale experienced in South Korea.

Soybeans closed ½ cent a bushel lower to 2½ higher, August $2.80½-80; wheat ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, September $1.47½-¼; corn ¼-½ lower, September $1.25⅜-¼; oats ⅛-⅜ lower, September 67⅝-¾ cents; rye ⅛-½ lower, September $1.18½.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Medicare Bill Is Monument To Fantasy, Wishful Thinking

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The imminent adoption of the Medicare bill is a monument to fantasy and wishful thinking.

Rukeyser

Prior to such government action in behalf of those over 65 in respect to demand for hospital facilities, there had already been a shortage of rooms, equipment, nurses and various aides.

Irrespective of whether supply and demand for medical services can be best achieved by voluntary methods or by government intervention, it is crystal clear that politics has, at least for the short term, enormously intensified already existing shortages.

Although proponents argued that federal action was being limited, the fact is that the imbalance between supply and demand will, as a next step, lead to a clamor for federal subsidies for medical schools, for hospital buildings, for nursing homes and for the whole network of medical care.

If the realities of assembly-line, government medicine in Europe are to be repeated here, the current high expectations are likely to lead to disappointment.

Hurt Own Cause

In face of the threat of governmental regimentation, the voluntary institutions have unwittingly hurt their own cause by not stressing sufficient kindness and individual attention to patrons. If people are to be pushed around, they become resentful and are ready for short-cuts, such as governmental subsidies.

In all governmental social schemes, the normal expectation is a sky-rocketing of costs. The bill for Social Security will reach a new peak next year—far above the minimum payroll levies of the initial period back in 1937. Not only have the tax rates been ballooned, but there have been successive increments in the salary ceilings at which such payroll taxes stop.

The Social Security Administration has sensibly warned older persons not to cancel voluntary insurance. In the first place, there will be a time gap before the government system goes into effect. Secondly, without analytical help, the insured should be discriminating in giving up more liberal voluntary coverage by insurance companies. The expectancy is that the insurance companies will work out new patterns to supplement the federal scheme.

In face of governmental competition, a few insurance companies and several pools of companies have worked out in recent years contracts for those over 65. Proper coverage is expensive. Sometimes there was ballyhoo which made the outer insurance package seem more alluring than the fine print inside. Contracts should be written with high conscience and, in the words of the head of the Property Division of the New York State Insurance Department, the terms should be underwritten before the sale and not later when claims are made.

Great Burdens

At present, the insurance companies are putting great burdens on policyholders in the filling out of claims. When settlements are made, there should be a clearer accounting by the carrier of precisely what the nature of the coverage was. I have observed that the current practice leaves something to be desired. While it is desirable to keep costs down, this should not be carried to the extreme of interferring with communications between the company and the insured.

The contemplated new payroll tax schedule will run the rate up to 8.4% next year and to 11.3% by 1987. In addition, there will be supplementary charges on general tax revenues and also premium payments by the insured.

The rise in payroll taxes has an important bearing on general fiscal policy. There has been much demagoguery in the tax discussions. The customary line for politicians these days is to favor steeply graduated income taxes on the theory that they "soak the rich" and hostility to transactions imposts, excise taxes and all varieties of sales taxes on the ground they are regressive and "soak the poor."

The truth is that the bulk of the national income goes to workers and others among the upwards of 70 million gainfully employed persons and that in the nature of things most of the revenue must come from the low and moderate income brackets.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Campaign Materials Bill Raised

A bill prohibiting anonymous political campaign literature was resurrected by the State Legislature Tuesday. The vote was 30-11, five more than was needed.

LB915 had been killed last week by the Government and Military Affairs Committee.

The bill requires all campaign literature to contain the name and street address of the person or committee requesting the printing. This would apply to handbills, pamphlets, advertisements, circulars, postcards, photographs, placards or letters in all elections.

The legislation was drafted by Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett, and backed by Governor Morrison and the State Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. asked it be revived. He said it was needed for the protection of political candidates against smear tactics.

Pedersen said he would offer amendments to exempt bumper and wind stickers, yard signs and cards carrying factual material about candidates.

Voting against reviving the bill were Sens. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk, Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, Albert Kjar of Lexington, Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha, Frank Nelson of O'Neill, Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, Dale L. Payne of Papillion and William Wylie of Elgin.

HHH Discusses Viet Decisions

Minneapolis, Minn. (UPI—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nations governors Tuesday night that President Johnsons new decisions on Viet Nam "touch the lives of thousands of American families" but he said Americans "can have both" guns and the Great Society.

Humphrey revised his original address before this 57th annual governors conference to place fresh stress on his statement that any impending build up for Viet Nam would not halt the country's domestic progress.

The Vice President was applaused only eight times during his revised speech at the annual state dinner of the governors and their wives. But his audience, apparently conscious of Wednesday's scheduled presidential announcement on Viet Nam policy, listened intently.

"Today we face no choice between guns and schools, ammunition and medical care," Humphrey said, "this nation can have both—and we will have both in abundance.

"We need not tonight be heavy-laden and sorrowful."

The vice president's toned-down text, which originally referred to decisions affecting "hundreds of thousands of American families" and the expenditure of "great resources" in Viet Nam, was altered as Hunphrey flew from Washington to his home town of Minneapolis Tuesday night.

Saline County's ADC Policy Hit By Lincoln Men

HHH Discusses Viet Decisions

Minneapolis, Minn. (UPI— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nations governors Tuesday night that President Johnsons new decisions on Viet Nam "touch the iives of thousands of American families" but he said Americans "can have both" guns and the Great Society.

Humphrey revised his original address before this 57th annual governors conference to place fresh stress on his statement that any impending build up for Viet Nam would not halt the country's domestic progress.

The Vice President was applaused only eight times during his revised speech at the annual state dinner of the governors and their wives. But his audience, apparently conscious of Wednesday's scheduled presidential announcement on Viet Nam policy, listened intently.

"Today we face no choice between guns and schools, ammunition and medical care," Humphrey said, "this nation can have both—and we will have both in abundance.

"We need not tonight be heavy-laden and sorrowful."

The vice president's toned-down text, which originally referred to decisions affecting "hundreds of thousands of American families" and the expenditure of "great resources" in Viet Nam, was altered as Hunphrey flew from Washington to his home town of Minneapolis Tuesday night.

There's no place like home. And maybe that's a lucky thing at that.

No sooner did we begin building a new room on the scatter but we must buy a carload of household magazines.

These elegant, slick paper monthlies are full of things like: "How To Get More Out of Small Spaces."

The page is printed in four colors—and baby, if you don't know it, that costs plenty. No matter. The editor sells the book for half a buck copy. And what he gets for the cake-mix ads is highway robbery.

☆ ☆ ☆

People putting new rooms on houses—or even considering such—buy these magazines. And there goes this year's budget.

Here is a lady writes the editor:

"I have a crystal and gold chandelier around which I'd like to decorate my dining room . . ."

The home-making editor comes right back:

"Try pastel blue walls. Oatmeal gauze curtains. Taupe carpeting and gold-and-glass accessories like vases and serving dishes and a centerpiece. If you are buying a table, consider one with a round glass top."

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, these things set a female into a kind of fever. A state of insanity.

I said: "Look. We don't have a crystal and gold chandelier to decorate around. Also this is not a dining room we are building. It is a kind of den for the master of the manse."

She said: "I'm thinking in broad terms of the whole color scheme. I can just picture it."

☆ ☆ ☆

From one magazine to another, page to page, I fight off modern or French provincial. Or a darling way to make this room look like a Portuguese fisherman's kitchen.

We leap through a variety of colors: Sunset pink. Morning afterglow. Undersea purple shadow.

"I want a plain office type room," I said. "Something with—."

She said: "If we do it all in red, we need a white telephone."

I said: "Are you out of your blooming mind? A white phone is always fingermarked. How about a nice dark green?"

Is that anything to bring on fainting spells? I ask you!

☆ ☆ ☆

Painters come high in our town—about like hiring the president of Chase-Manhattan.

You do not pick up oatmeal gauze at remnant sales either.

There is also some talk of changing the wall-to-wall carpeting to something more barbered.

☆ ☆ ☆

If you change the carpeting, you must change the drapes. Did you know that? True.

If you change the drapes, you need an entirely new style of furniture. Did you know that? True.

If you get new furniture, you need a more generous banker. Did you know that? I do but the banker is not cooperative. Too true.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Even if you're looking for trouble, there's no place like home." So a wise man once remarked.

Pour a cup of coffee, you have to buy a coffee table.

PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.
